Top Of The Morning

WEATHER

There is a 50 per cent chance of showers today, but otherwise the weather will be partly cloudy, windy and warmer with a high around 50. Fair and mild tonight and tomorrow. The overnight low will be about 34. High tomorrow in the mid 50s, with a ten per cent chance of precipitation. Winds are from the south 15 to 20 mph becoming westerly or northwesterly this afternoon and night. Sunrise was at 7:03 a.m. this morning; sunset will be at 5:06 p.m. Yesterday's 7 a.m. report: a trace of precipitation, river level 5.2 feet and falling, maximum 39, minimum 28.

Kinzua Dam Report

Pool level 1304.90; upstream temperature and downstream temperature both 48 degrees. The reading at the Warren gauge was 5.20.

WARREN COUNTY

First Lieutenant James A. Klein, son of Mrs. Fern L. Jennings 2012 Jackson Run rd., and the husband of Judy Klein, 301 Park st., Warren, has been awarded the Bronze Star for heroism in Vietnam. Lt. Klein led his platoon in an attack on a cave where "hard core Viet Cong" were hiding.

Election returns from Forest County show that William W. (Bill) Allen, Republican candidate for the General Assembly's 65th district drew the majority of votes there. All 46 precincts in the county have now reported in results. Official vote count gets under way next week.

Professional and technical assistance to be sought by using state aid was the request of most artistic groups representing this area at a meeting with the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts last night. Approximately eight local groups were represented.

THE NATION

The Senate rejected a House-approved conference committee bill that was intended to delay court enforcement of congressional redistricting until 1972. The vote was a victory for a small group of junior members of both houses who have fought the efforts of congressional leaders to weaken the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote ruling.

Both houses of Congress approved and sent to the White House a badly battered $2.7 billion foreign aid authorization bill for the fiscal year that ends June 30. Gardner Ackley, the chairman of President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers, said that the steep rise in defense spending appears to be flattening out, but that a tax increase was still needed to achieve "an economy which is healthy, balanced and noninflationary."

"Which party won in Tuesday's local and state elections?" The answer to that question depended on which party was speaking. John M. Bailey, the Democratic national chairman, said his party's mayoral successes "foreshadow greater victories to follow, including the big one a year from now." His Republican counterpart, Ray C. Bliss, said that the state results in Kentucky and New Jersey "show very clearly that the upsurge in Republican strength which began in 1966 is continuing."

The Lake County election board certified Richard Hatcher, a Negro Democrat, as winner of the election for mayor by 1,389 votes. But there were charges of voting irregularities in the tight contest, which ran on racial lines, and the white Republican candidate, Joseph Radigan, refused to concede defeat.

Nearly unanimous balloting in Negro precincts plus an estimated 43,000 white votes enabled Carl Stokes, a Negro Democrat, to overcome a 20,000-vote margin and narrowly win the mayoralty election by 2,501 votes. The outcome was not known until the last nine of the city's 903 precincts were counted.

THE WORLD

Abba Eban, the Israeli foreign minister, criticized the United States and Indian C.N. draft resolutions on the Middle East in a news conference. He said the resolutions did not sufficiently support Israel's demand for direct peace negotiations with the Arab nations.

The Egyptian government's chief spokesman, Dr. Mohammed H. El-Zayyat, said that the United Arab Republic guaranteed the "right of Israel to exist." The statement was considered the strongest affirmation from Cairo since the June war that it considered itself bound not to infringe on Israel's security.

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam named a cabinet composed mainly of persons associated with the military regime he headed as chief of state until his inauguration 10 days ago. American officials and civilian politicians privately expressed disappointment at the list, which included no significant opposition figure.

SPORTS

Two Sheffield High School players have been named to the AML-Border Conference "Most Valuable Player" list, Mike Steffan and Robbie Hart. Steffan sparked the Wolverines' offense after a switch from quarterback to halfback in mid-season. Hart was outstanding as a defensive halfback. Page 10.

The recently organized Late Model Division of the Bay City Racing Association has announced plans to race at Wattsburg and at Conneaut, Ohio, next season. Most of the drivers in the organization competed at Stetline and Erie Speedways during the past season. Page 11.

HEAR ABOUT AREA ARTS

Theodore Hazlett Jr., chairman of the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts (left), Vincent R. Artz, executive director of the council (center) and Clarence Pearson of the Warren Art League conducted a public forum last night to discuss the expansion of current cultural activities in the Warren Area. ## Area's Cultural Activities Discussed with State Group

BY DAVE KNIGHT

Area artists and representatives of local artistic groups met last night at a public forum to discuss the expansion of current cultural activities in Warren through professional and technical assistance. Discussing these issues were citizens of Warren County who met with members of the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts, represented by Theodore L. Hazlett Jr., chairman of the council, who led the program. Also present representing the council was Vincent R. Artz, executive director.

The forum was held to inform the council of the scope of activities in the area and to discuss the specific needs of each group.

Plummer Collins, president elect of the Seneca Land District of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, testified that the society "provides an environment for creative self-expression in song to men who might normally assume this is far beyond their reach." Collins outlined the Society's "Harmony Education Program" which teaches the skills of chorus directing, leadership, arranging and quartet coaching. Collins stressed school and professional musicians must recognize the importance of amateur groups to the total musical life of the community.

Representing the Warren Art League at last night's forum was Mrs. Richard R. McClain, acting president. Mrs. McClain detailed the aims and programs of the Art League and suggested ways in which the Art Council could help art groups in the area. Mrs. McClain said that the council "could perhaps best serve the Art League's type of organization by promoting a central information and distribution agency to provide current interchange of ideas and programming."

"Additional advertising in the area would significantly aid local groups, and add to the community's knowledge and appreciation of the arts," she added.

BOTH GOP, DEMOS GAIN

Elections Cheer Both Sides

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans firmed up their base for the 1968 presidential contest by capturing the Kentucky Statehouse in Tuesday's elections, but Democrats were cheered by retaining their holds on the big cities of Philadelphia and Cleveland.

Democrat Carl B. Stokes, a Negro, demonstrated by his election as mayor of Cleveland that it is possible for one of his race to take the top office in a major city even where Negroes are a minority.

He takes a place in history as the first Negro to accomplish that.

The 40-year-old lawyer could be one of the big guns of 1968 Democratic campaigning, particularly in areas with a large Negro vote.

Mayor James H. Tate's reelection in Philadelphia is another important one for the Democrats. The patronage and power that go with the mayor's office can be decisive in a close statewide election.

Pennsy Workers Want 30% Wage Increase

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Transport Workers Union announced yesterday it would seek wage hikes of 30 per cent in negotiations opening Friday for its 15,000 members employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad. Union and management negotiators will seek agreement on a pact to replace a contract that expires at midnight Dec. 31.

The TWU will also seek a 30-hour week, three additional holidays and a supplemental unemployment benefit plan that would allow workers laid off to recover 90 per cent of their wages lost while out of work, said a TWU spokesman.

Current jobless pay benefits average about $10 a day. Also, the union will demand the Pennsy restore all merger-protected employees to their jobs by Jan. 1, 1968. The TWU spokesman said thousands of union members have been laid off under the Pennsy-New York Central Railroad merger plan which, the union says, assures these workers of their jobs when the merger is consummated.

For President Johnson, who presumably will seek another term in the White House in next year's election, it was heartening that San Francisco decisively turned down a ballot proposition for U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

The referendum vote was 2 to 1 against a pullout. A Vietnam vote was also on the ballot in Cambridge, Mass., but the result may not be known for three weeks or so.

Cambridge elects a city council by proportional representation with second and third choices. Election officials said this complexity will be sorted out before they get around to looking at the Vietnam vote.

On the other side of the Vietnam question, there was the factor that Louie B. Nunn, successful GOP candidate for governor of Kentucky, had made it an issue in his campaign.

"Tired of the War?" one of his slogans asked. "Vote Nunn."

In other city contests which attracted particular national attention, Richard G. Hatcher, Negro Democrat, was elected mayor of Gary, Ind., and Kevin

Fighting Heavy In Dak To Area

SARGON (AP) — U.S. 4th Infantry Division troops fought a bloody five-hour battle yesterday in the jungled central highlands of South Vietnam and found 100 North Vietnamese bodies in a sweep of the battlefield today, American officers reported.

In the air war, U.S. Air Force jets made a concentrated assault all along the main north-south railroad line linking Hanoi with Red China.

Heavy fighting in the Dak To area of the central highlands in the last few days may be a prelude to Communist dry season offensives.

Before the two companies of infantrymen could complete their sweep of the battlefield near Dak To, 270 miles north of Saigon, they came under still another small arms and mortar attack, the second in less than 24 hours.

The 4th Division troops suffered six killed and 15 wounded, officers said, when they came under a five-hour heavy ground, mortar and rocket assault as they were moving into night defensive positions late Wednesday. Simultaneously, a battalion artillery support base nearby came under mortar attack.

Detroit Cops, 'Unloved,' Get Jitters

DETROIT (AP) — The head doctor in the Detroit police department says nervousness and emotional instability among police have shown a marked increase since the July riot.

Dr. George Moriarity says the men complain of nervous stomachs, unreasonable fear and a dread of going to work.

As a result, Moriarity says, he has requested a board of psychiatrists to examine policemen who complain of nervous problems. At present, one psychiatrist handles emotional problems.

Moriarity says the men generally blame their problems on a feeling they are "unappreciated" and "unloved" by the public.

Police personnel director Robert S. Quid says he has been aware of an increasing number of complaints of nervousness due to what he calls "street pressures."

That's Show Biz

(c) N.Y. Times News Service ALBANY, N.Y. — A state appellate court ruled yesterday that the view from the observation towers of the Empire State Building is entertaining and admissions are therefore subject to the 2 per cent state sales tax.

Under a massive counterbombardment by artillery, jet fighter-bombers and twin-engine C47s armed with rapid-firing Gatling guns, the Communists broke contact last night but sporadic fire continued through the night. Many of the enemy casualties apparently were from the artillery and air strikes.

Early this morning, after B52 bombers unloaded a string of 150,000 pounds of bombs to the west of the battlefield in efforts to block a withdrawal by the North Vietnamese troops, the American infantrymen began pushing out from their night defensive positions to sweep the battlefield.

Dak To is along the triborder region of South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, where the North Vietnamese reportedly have up to six regiments poised for a possible offensive across the center of South Vietnam. U.S. infantrymen have been conducting numerous search operations in efforts to check a Communist thrust.

Since last Friday, units of the 4th Division and 173rd Airborne Brigade have run into fierce fighting with North Vietnamese elements in the Dak To area, the heaviest in more than three months in the central highlands. U.S. officers said 204 North Vietnamese troops have been killed since last Friday compared to 44 American dead and 130 wounded. The Americans also reportedly captured more than 200 weapons.

UAW and Chrysler Reach an Agreement

By JERRY M. FLINT

(c) N.Y. Times News Service DETROIT — The United Automobile Workers union canceled a midnight strike deadline against the Chrysler Corporation last night.

The union and the company announced that they had reached a tentative agreement covering 95,000 production and maintenance workers, the bulk of Chrysler's workers. Still to be negotiated is a contract covering 8,000 white collar workers the union represents at Chrysler.

The negotiators said they would return to the bargaining table after they had rested. Bargaining had gone on continuously since 10 a.m. Tuesday.

The union also asked workers who walked off their jobs prematurely yesterday to return to work.

The new tentative agreement is similar to the union's contract with the Ford Motor company, but contains a provision to raise the pay of Chrysler's Canadian workers to the level of Chrysler's American workers over a two and a half year period.

The union failed to win equal pay for Canadian and United States workers in its new contract at Ford.

Most of Chrysler Corporation's car plants were closed yesterday as Chrysler workers at factories across the nation walked off their jobs in anticipation of a strike at midnight last night. In all, 35,000 of Chrysler's 103,000 U.S. workers were off the job yesterday because of walkouts or parts shortages.

Big Moon Rocket Is Readied for Flight

(c) N.Y. Times News Service CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. — Final preparations for the first launching of the United States moon rocket began last night with high expectations of an on-time lift-off at 7 a.m.

Technicians at the launching pad had to replace a defective battery on the rocket, but ran into no other serious problems as they got ready to fuel the rocket early today.

Dr. Robert C. Seamans Jr., deputy administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said at a news conference that the unmanned mission is the "most difficult and most significant milestone to date" in the U.S. effort to land men on the moon by 1970.

The three-stage Saturn 5 moon rocket, generating 7.5 million pounds of thrust at lift-off, is set to boost an Apollo spacecraft into earth orbit and then to an altitude of 11,400 miles. From that height, the spacecraft is to plunge to a splashdown at a speed comparable to that astronauts will encounter on returning from the moon.

The flight is expected to last eight hours and 40 minutes, ending in a splashdown of the spacecraft 700 miles northwest of Hawaii.

At least one more unmanned Saturn 5 flight is planned before astronauts are cleared to go up in an Apollo spacecraft boosted by the powerful new rocket. That could come as soon as late 1968. The first attempt to send men on a round trip to the moon is not expected before late 1969.

Erie County's Election Sees A Major Upset

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — A retired state police sergeant has pulled off a major upset in ousting a veteran Erie County commissioner and a big political surprise in outpolling all candidates.

Leo Weir, who retired in 1966, drew 36,491 votes in Tuesday's election. He was the Republican candidate.

Louis J. Rzynek, a Democratic commissioner for 16 years lost. He polled 23,185 votes. Republican Fred Lamberton, a commissioner since 1946, and Democrat William O. Hill Jr., also an incumbent, also were elected commissioners. Lamberton polled 35,401 votes, Hill 29,850.

The Republican majority on the board marks the first time in several years the GOP has controlled the county.

Stokes Names White Enforcers

(c) N.Y. Times News Service CLEVELAND — Mayor-elect Carl B. Stokes, made it clear yesterday that his administration would be biracial as he named two whites to important law enforcement positions in Cleveland city government, public safety director and chief police prosecutor.

RIBBON CUTTING MARKS GRAND RE-OPENING

A ribbon-cutting ceremony last night marked the culmination of a five-year, half-million dollar renovation program that has resulted in an all new Levinson Brothers store, "The Big City Store in Warren." State Sen. Richard C. Frame of the 48th District cut the ribbon with a pair of gold shears. Sharing the scene with him were the store owners—Bert Nahum and Jake Levinson and David Luxenberg, left, a brother-in-law. Over 700 people were invited to attend the event. (Photo by Mahan)

William W. (Bill) Allen, Republican candidate for the General Assembly's 65th district, on Tuesday drew the majority of votes in Forest County.
With Warren County producing an unofficial total for Allen of 6,639 votes, Forest added an additional 1,047, as compared to 527 for Democrat Alva Fuller of Grand Valley.

Clinger Takes Second Place

Warren County Republican William F. Clinger ran second in voting for the two delegates from the 25th senatorial district for the constitutional convention, according to unofficial results received yesterday from McKean County.
In that county Clinger garnered 7,036 votes to place him behind Victor Westerberg with 8,562. The other two candidates, both Democrats, Gordon Daghir and Max Gabreski, picked up 2,458 and 2,401 respectively.
In Elk County, the results showed Westerberg, 4,010; Clinger 3,797; Daghir 7,211 and Gabreski 4,687.
The totals from all three counties, Warren, McKean and Elk gave Westerberg 18,659; Clinger 18,329; Daghir 13,001; and Gabreski 10,538. Final results from Forest and Venango Counties are not yet in.

Explosion Blows Couple from Home

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—An elderly couple was blown out of their small one-story house yesterday by a gas explosion which levelled the building.
Neighbors of Ardel S. Wilson 67, and his wife, Nora, 68, said the blast tore out the north wall of the frame house and took the couple with it.
A reporter said the couple was probably saved by being tossed out, because the roof collapsed "almost immediately."
Both were listed in satisfactory condition in Centre County Hospital in Bellefonte.

Arts

testified that additional information would help the Association "but even more, financial assistance is needed," he noted. As one of its goals the concert association aims to bring quality attractions to the Warren area. Summers stated that this effort is stilted, primarily through lack of funds. Summers also reported on the membership, campaign procedures, budget, and community reaction to the concert association.

Mrs. Charles Eaton, president of the Philomel Club, the first to speak at last night's meeting, gave a brief history of the club. She emphasized that programs of the club provide an opportunity for amateurs to perform before an audience. She added the council could provide a needed service by suggesting ideas and further encouragement for musicians to perform.

Harold LeMure, representing the newly organized Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau, outlined the programs of that organization, noting that as a new bureau in the area, the organization is having difficulty becoming known. Through various promotional activities, the bureau is seeking recognition as a potentially significant agent in the artistic activities in the area. One of the major proposals the new organization is considering is for an outdoor historical musical drama to complement the outdoor recreational potential in the area.

Another newly formed organization in Warren is the Warren Arts Council, also headed by McClain. Mrs. McClain told the council that Warren Arts Council was formed this past summer and has been working on programs which should bring out the best in Warren's artistic organizations. While still working on its initial plans, Mrs. McClain stated, the arts council of Warren has also been considering what aid, and from whom, might help in its programs.

The theater arts in Warren were well represented at last night's forum, with Mrs. Edith O'Hara, representing P.owright Playhouse (formerly the Warren Summer Theatre Inc.) William Muir representing the Warren Players Club, and Richard Andersen, a member of the faculty of the drama department of the Warren off-campus center. The programs and aims of these groups were detailed by their respective representatives, with all three expressing a desire for technical assistance in the direction of plays and theater arts programs as a prime need of their groups.
Margaret Wright represented the Warren Civic Orchestra, expressing that despite the potential of both audience and participants, the orchestra needs more players. She also expressed the desire to secure the services of a major orchestra for a concert.
Others in attendance at last night's forum, held in the hospitality rooms of Northwest Savings and Loan, included state Senator Richard C. Frame from Franklin.

The public forum series is part of a statewide resource study being conducted by the Pennsylvania Council of the Arts. The program was initiated to enable the Council to become better acquainted with the artistic organizations throughout the Commonwealth.

HERSHEY'S NEW RULING: Protesters Face Draft

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey at a news conference yesterday discussed his recommendation that any student who interferes with recruiting be deprived of his deferment, declared a delinquent and drafted as soon as possible.
He said anyone liable to the draft who was caught interfering with recruiting would be offered the choice of military service or jail.
The recommendation, disclosed Tuesday, was contained in a letter from the general to the nation's 4,100 local boards. Although Hershey is prohibited by law from issuing actual orders to local boards, his recommendations are normally accepted within the Selective Service System.
The Selective Service Act and its accompanying regulations, which also have legal force, state that a registrant may be declared delinquent and indicted for interfering with the draft progress or otherwise violating the selective service law or regulations.
Nowhere, however, do either law or regulations specify that interference with a military recruiter attempting to obtain volunteers is a violation.
The general acknowledged that legally "it may be that we are assuming just a little," but "We do consider that after a boy has been registered and knows he has an obligation, he has a right to carry out that obligation" by volunteering.
"When the recruiter is trying to enlist one of our boys who has been ordered to induction," he said, "we believe it is a violation when anyone interferes with that registrant who is trying to carry out his obligation to the government."

Store

by formulating their five-year renovation program even before they bought the store.
"It is just such a program," Mayor Conaway pointed out in his remarks, "which allows you to present to the present and future shoppers of Warren and northwestern Pennsylvania the fruits of your labors."
"It is particularly reassuring," he added, "that you have not only chosen Warren as a good place to do business but have also decided that you want to live here and bring up your children here."
The newly elected assemblyman representing Warren and Forest counties, William W. Allen, was also present to congratulate the Levinsons on the completion of the renovation program. He remarked that the new "Big City Store in Warren" would compare favorably with any store in major cities with in 100 to 150 miles of Warren.

Dr. Julius A. Fino, president of the Warren Area Chamber of Commerce, declared that it represented a milestone in the growth and prosperity of the area.
Jake Levinson expressed the feeling of the store owners—Bert, Jake and Nahum Levinson and David Luxenberg, a brother-in-law—when he said that "we feel this is very important because of the confidence we do have in the future and in this area in particular."
"But it could not have happened," he said, "if Warren had not received us over the years the way it has."
"Money could build facilities like these, but it couldn't operate them. We could never have dreamed of this kind of operation without the people we have working with us."
As he did on Family Day, observed Sunday afternoon, Jake Levinson paid tribute to the store's employees.
"We now have, between the two stores, Levinson Brothers and Betty Lee, in excess of 100 employees who every day help to make all this possible. This is heartfelt praise, and we certainly want you to know it."

But Republican Joseph Radigan, a white businessman, kept open the possibility of a court challenge.
Democrat segregationist John Bell Williams won as expected elected governor of Mississippi by a whopping majority.
Looking to 1968, Nunn's election as governor of Kentucky means that when he takes office next year the Republicans will hold a majority of 50 governorships for the first time since 1954.

The division by parties will shift from the present 25-25 to 26-24 for the GOP.
Those 26 Republican states will have a total of 304 electoral votes, 34 more than needed to name a president.
Aside from the Kentucky victory, GOP National Chairman Ray C. Bliss pointed to the elections for the New Jersey legislature as evidence his party is still on the upsurge demonstrated in the 1966 elections. Republicans took control of both houses of the legislature from the Democrats.

Before the elections, there was general expectation among political analysts of "white backlash" in reaction to last summer's riots and urban disorders.
How much there was is a matter of speculation.

Chautauqua County Budget is $17.2M

MAYVILLE, N.Y.—The Chautauqua County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved a $17.2 million budget for 1968 by a vote of 29-6. The tax levy on real estate totals 5.4 million—an increase of $1.5 million over the current levy. Jamestown taxpayers will see their county taxes increased by $2.82 per $1,000 assessed valuation.
Prior to yesterday's board meeting, a public hearing on the new budget was held in the supervisors meeting room. Orrin A. Parker of Ashville urged the board to permit county residents to pay their taxes in two payments rather than one. Jamestown supervisor R. Theodore Smith objected to the lack of an appropriation in the budget for enforcing the county sanitary code. Smith told the board of numerous violations of the code involving subdivisions, and related incidents of raw sewage being allowed to empty into creeks and in various parts of the county.

Broad Cuts in Poverty Bill Nixed by House

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republicans declined yesterday to support a proposal to cut funds for the anti-poverty program to a level the administration says would end the program's usefulness.
At a strategy meeting held in connection with the anti-poverty bill now before the House, a majority of the GOP members indicated they preferred to try to change specific programs rather than vote for an across-the-board cut in spending.
Some cuts will undoubtedly be made and supporters of the bill indicate they expect to see the House put the figure at around $1.6 billion.

Meat Standards Bill is Pushed

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—The administration is seeking to strengthen a House-approved meat inspection bill in the Senate and assure that within three years all meat sold in the country will meet federal standards.
The Department of Agriculture has circulated to key senators a proposed amendment that would give states three years to establish adequate inspection programs for meat sold within the state that it is processed. If they failed to act, the federal government would be empowered to apply federal standards.

Eban Rejects Indian Plan For Settlement

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban today rejected a resolution aimed at promoting a Middle East settlement through the U.N. Security Council.

He also expressed reservations about a plan introduced in the council by the United States, and East European sources said they thought the Soviet Union would veto the U.S. proposal if it appeared likely to obtain enough votes to pass.

Eban told a news conference that Israel "cannot in any circumstances give any consent, support or cooperation" to the Indian plan, which calls for the withdrawal of Israeli armed forces from "all the territories" seized in the Arab-Israeli war in June.

Eban said the Indian draft resolution, which is co-sponsored by Mali and Nigeria, prejudices Israel's position in advance by defining what shape a settlement should take.

His criticism of the U.S. resolution was centered on its failure to give proper emphasis to the need for direct negotiations. But he said neither plan before the council took adequate notice of this need.

39 Injured By HongKong Bomb

(c) N.Y. Times News Service HONG KONG — Thirty-nine persons were injured in a bomb explosion here last night shortly after the police shot dead two persons who were part of a threatening mob. The bomb struck down members of a police patrol and the mob confronting them.

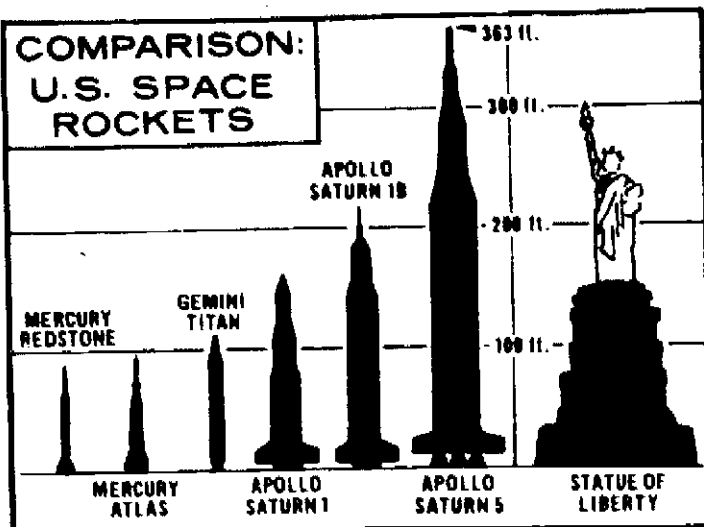

A spokesman said the incident occurred when nine members of a force on patrol in Mong-kok, one of Hong Kong's more densely populated areas, arrested a man seen planting bombs.

The patrol was attacked by a crowd and used their revolvers to defend themselves. Two of the crowd were shot dead.

Shortly after the police opened fire, one of the bombs planted by the prisoner exploded.

The chart traces the evolution of the space boosters from the Mercury rockets of 1960 to Saturn 5, the first flight version of the type of rocket which may be used in manned moon shots in 1969.

New Viet Cabinet Has Few New Faces

By R. W. APPLE JR. (c) N.Y. Times News Service SAIGON, South Vietnam — President Nguyen Van Thieu today named a cabinet composed mainly of persons associated with the military regime he headed as chief of state until his inauguration 10 days ago.

No significant opposition figure was included in the list of 19 ministers announced by a presidential spokesman. The new officials were to be introduced at a ceremony later today in the office of the prime minister, Nguyen Van Loc, a lawyer from the Mekong River delta who is not widely known here.

American officials and civilian politicians privately expressed disappointment with the list. They had hoped for a government of national unity, including at least some representatives of the 10 civilians defeated for the presidency by Thieu on Sept. 3.

Only two of the new ministers, aside from Loc, who was campaign manager for the Thieu-Ky ticket, are new faces: professors Pho Ba Long, the secretary of labor, and Tang Kim Dong, the secretary of education.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — This first major city in the nation to vote on Vietnam policy smashed down by a nearly 2 to 1 margin Tuesday the idea of a ceasefire and immediate withdrawal.

Tax Hike Idea Gets Nowhere

WASHINGTON (AP) — A possible compromise proposal for a tax increase, unveiled by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, seems not to have got off the ground. Dirksen said Tuesday he had discussed with members of both parties a $4 billion tax increase to be accompanied by a $4 billion spending cut.

But Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee said yesterday nobody had mentioned the proposal to him. The committee has shelved tax increase proposals until some agreement on spending cuts is reached, and Mills has said he has no present plans to reconvene the body.

Mother Dies in Meadville Fire

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Four children were rescued yesterday from a fire that destroyed their home and killed their mother.

Neighbors pulled the children, aged from five to 10, from the blaze.

Firemen, delayed by a train from reaching the burning home in Meadville's West End, found the body of Rebecca Carr, 27, in the living room. The firemen had to go two miles out of their way when a slow moving freight train blocked a crossing.

A neighbor reporting hearing an explosion as the fire broke out, but the cause of the fire was not learned.

Things Went Smoothly

When the polls closed at 8 p.m. Tuesday, those waiting for returns at the Warren County court house were resigned to a long wait from the 46 precincts.

They were pleasantly surprised, however, when at 8:10 p.m., the first report was called in. It turned out that Clarendon borough pretty much set the trend in general election results.

The action was consistently lively throughout the evening with a brief lull between about 10:30 and 11 p.m. when all but two or three precincts had recorded the voting.

The Micrometry of Doom

WASHINGTON—There was a lot of food for thought in Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara's cool announcement that the Soviets were building something exquisitely entitled, in the best Pentagonese, a Fractional Orbiting Bombardment System, alias FOBS.

To begin with, the response to the announcement is quite a stonishing demonstration of the extraordinary double standard (or one might say the highly developed practice of doublethink) that prevails in this country today. Here were the Soviets, after all, going at least half-way toward breaking their promise to put no bombs in outer space.

But was there the kind of chorus of outrage about wicked people stepping up the arms race that greeted the announcement of America's "thin" deployment of antiballistic missiles? Why, of course not! And was the miracle of detective intelligence behind the McNamara announcement greeted with a chorus of praise to balance the constant attacks on our intelligence services? Why, of course not!

Those who ask such silly questions probably ought to go stand in a corner, in fact. Meanwhile, the real story of FOBS, which hardly came through in McNamara's characteristic grand-style presentation, is also immensely interesting and instructive.

The thing itself is simply an ICBM made into a low-orbit satellite, which is built to hurl a warhead at a chosen target from a preset point on the orbit around the globe. The first question concerning it is whether the orbit really will be

Then the Rules Changed

HARRISBURG—It's like playing football and not knowing whether a touchdown counts five or six points, or baseball in which either two or three strikes is out. Actually, it's more like playing ping-pong and having the number of points needed to win suddenly reduced from 21 to 20 or even to 19 or 18!

Ever since the Pennsylvania Constitution of 1873 was passed, everyone has known just what the score was—or at least they thought so. It took one more than one-half of the total number of seats to pass a bill. That has always been 26 votes in the Senate and currently should be 102 votes in the House of Representatives.

But suddenly, right in the middle of the contest, the rules were changed. Attorney General William C. Sennett last month produced a legal opinion averring that it required only 24 votes to pass a bill in the Senate because there were only 46 members due to four vacancies. The Republican majority of the Senate however decided that the number was 25—because of a hanging election contest in York County and thus only 49 members were elected to the Senate this session.

Curiously, that "happened" to be the number of affirmative votes Republicans had ready to be cast on the legislation at hand—the five cent per pack increase in the cigarette tax. Democrats have now challenged that ruling in the Commonwealth Court.

But, it has been learned that Democrats also are going to challenge the Attorney General's ruling on the floor of the House, which returns to session Monday.

Democrats seem well within their rights in asking just what rules the political game is to be played under. Before any bill is voted upon on Monday, they will ask for a ruling of the Speaker on just how many votes it takes to pass legislation.

The official count gets under way next week and absentee ballots will be tallied Friday, November 17.

As Lyndon Buns. No Hums...

SAIGON, Vietnam—Basics, the major said. You can't understand this war without a scorecard. He was a listener and a whisperer, rather than a talker. He had a strong hammered-down body with a head full of skin and he stirred his tea slowly, as though reading his own fortune. First of all, he said, there is no war. Nobody has declared war on anybody.

It looks like a war. It sounds like one. It even feels like one when a bullet whines through the foliage toward your hat. But it isn't a war. It all began, he said, on March 13, 1959, when Ho Chi Minh, in Hanoi, said that the time had come to "liberate the south," and called upon his North Vietnamese to "struggle heroically and perseveringly to smash the southern regime."

The South Vietnamese government, after the Geneva agreement of 1954, asked for help. The United Nations was bound to assist anyone who was wanted to be attacked and invaded. The major slipped the tea and grimaced. He began to tick statistics off his stubby fingers. North Vietnam has 18,000,000 people and a lot of industry. South Vietnam has 17,000,000 people and is one vast rice paddy.

In 1960, Ho organized something in the south called The National Liberation Front. This organization functioned in small cells, and their task was to assassinate government officials, beat village leaders, and cripple the social and economic life of Saigon. The South faced collapse. It had neither the will, the energy nor the logistical intelligence to fight a shadow it could not see.

The call for help, the major said, was answered by the United States, South Korea, Australia, New Zealand and, eventually, by Thailand. Other nations offered economic aid, but no troops. The U.S., in time, became the big helper.

The major asked a waiter if he could try a little brandy to soften the tea. There was a little book filled with figures, and he flipped the pages as though hunting the phone number of a forgotten girl friend. The Americans, he said, now have about 500,000 men here. Of these, about 50,000 are combat troops. The rest are working behind the lines.

The South Vietnamese, called "Arvin," for Army of Vietnam, have 639,000 men under arms. They do not draft boys until age 20, and a young man can be excused from service for educational reasons, health reasons, or because his parents know the right officials. But he still outnumbers the Americans and, if he deserts and is caught, he is shot at once.

It is astonishing, the major said, hanging his sniffling mustache over the brandy, that the total forces fighting for the South are 1,200,000 men. Ho, on the other hand, has only 330,000 men. He has three divisions, totalling 33,000 regulars, facing the South across the demilitarized zone. There are 277,000 Viet Cong in, of all places, South Vietnam.

This, the major whispered, leads to enormous Oriental embarrassments. Ho controls all of North Vietnam. He also controls 40 percent of South Vietnam. Thus, the new South Vietnamese government can administer only 60 percent of its own territory.

I opened my mouth. "Then the Cong is everywhere down here," I said. The major favored me with a cold glance. "That's what the American people do not understand," he said. "We have the manpower; we have the weapons; we have the bombers, but we are fighting shadows in the trees. Don't believe those statistics about 500 Cong being killed in an ambush. We're doing well if we can find 30 in one place."

Ho, he said, is losing the war. But he doesn't need much to keep in the field. Two soldiers at Hanoi are given the parts of a small mortar, and two rounds of ammunition. They get a rice ration and they start down the jungle trails—one of many—and these two lonely men may spend five or six months walking with their burden through Cambodia and, when they get far enough south, they will walk a trail back into Vietnam, select a hidden spot, assemble the mortar in the dark, fire their two rounds into a village or a city, and try to get away before they are hunted and slain.

It's a lousy life, but the Cong are tough soldiers. They can take South Vietnam overnight if the Americans will go home. They just hit and run, hit and run. Ho can keep sending his little cadres down the trails for years to come. As Lyndon burns, Ho hums...

JACK ANDERSON

Reagan's Denial of Charges

WASHINGTON—Four times in a 20-minute press conference, Gov. Ronald Reagan last week called Drew Pearson a liar. It was one of the veteran actor's most persuasive performances; his voice expressed a controlled outrage, and his schooled features alternated between pained earnestness and seething indignation as he stood in the familiar spotlight before the grinning cameras. Once he pounded the table angrily for effect.

The point of Reagan's performance was that Pearson had lied about the dismissal of two sex deviates from the Sacramento staff. Reagan described the Pearson column as "scurrilous" and "ridiculous."

When reporters pressed for the truth about his investigation of homosexuals in his official family, the governor snapped: "I just don't know what you are talking about, really."

Facts have now filtered out, flatly disputing Reagan. Such respected newspapers as the New York Times and Boston Globe, after careful investigation, have concluded that Pearson was right and Reagan wrong. Charged the Globe: "To put it as politely as possible for the readers of a family newspaper, Ronald Reagan is not to be believed."

Our able rivals, columnists Rowland Evans and Robert Novak, also declared that Reagan was "telling considerably less than the truth." They quoted a prominent California Republican, following Reagan's press conference performance, as snorting: "Mr. Integrity just went down the drain."

Reagan's denial is backfiring with such force that it is beginning to look as if he may join the long list of politicians who have been discredited, defeated, censured or in some cases even jailed over Pearson charges which they claimed were lies. Again and again, the politicians have turned out to be liars. The California governor is simply the latest who has wound up wearing the liar label that he tried to pin on Pearson.

As a Presidential prospect who has complained about the credibility gap in Washington, Reagan must stand scrutiny as to his own credibility. He has been caught in lies in the past, but the public has always ignored them. There is something about his wholesome face and boyish good looks that inspires trust.

Hearst's veteran political reporter, Marianne Means, was told by Mississippi's Gov. Paul Johnson earlier this year that he had advised Reagan in a private conversation not to run for the Presidential nomination in the South. Reagan at a luncheon of United States International editors not only called the story a "lie" but declared scornfully: "Furthermore, I have never met Governor Johnson. She must have been talking to the hippies at Haight-Ashbury."

The enterprising Miss Means promptly produced a picture of Reagan and Johnson huddled together at a governors' affair.

ART BUCHWALD

Hugh Hefner's House Guest

CHICAGO, Ill. — I had the good fortune the other day to be invited to stay at Hugh Hefner's mansion in Chicago. For those of you who don't read Playboy magazine, Hefner lives in a 500-room brownstone house with 345 servants, 250 revolving beds (one for each bedroom), a swimming pool refilled every morning with Moët Chandon champagne '64 and a steam room attended by 35 Miss Universe runners-up.

As I told my wife, "If you have to stay in Chicago, it's

"Don't mind if Ah do. Ah been playin' the rearend of a jackass for 'ahs."

Syd Kossen, political writer for the San Francisco Examiner, told this column that he had heard Reagan tell a lumberman's convention at San Francisco's St. Francis Hotel: "If you have seen one redwood, you have seen them all." Other reporters were also present, said Kossen.

This irreverence toward California's stately redwoods backfired. Reagan not only denied he had made the statement that the reporters had heard with their own ears, but he took the trouble of playing a tape of his speech for the reporters. The tape, which omitted the controversial statement, obviously had been altered.

Trained reporters, however, seldom make mistakes. And they do not lie. Reagan had made the statement.

New York columnist and TV impresario Ed Sullivan, writing in the Ladies' Home Journal, has also told of mailing a registered letter to Reagan which he blandly denied receiving. Later, Sullivan was startled to read in Hedda Hopper's column: "Ronald Reagan and I had a great laugh at that letter from that New York columnist."

Reagan repeated his denial in a letter to Sullivan, dated July 8, 1966. As for the Hedda Hopper item, he said: "I have just never been a reader of the Hollywood columns."

Sullivan could swallow Reagan's story of the unrecieved letter, but he added with disbelief: "This statement that a Hollywood actor never read the Hollywood columns is incredible."

Reagan's wholesome face and persuasive manner apparently have been concealing a character that is less than trustworthy. He not only lied about the homosexuals on his staff, but he made a liar out of his press secretary, Lyn Nofziger. When asked whether Nofziger had discussed the homosexual case with reporters on the governor's conference cruise, Reagan snapped: "I am prepared to say that nothing like that ever happened."

Then he turned to his press secretary and asked: "Want to confirm it, Lyn?"

"Confirmed," said Nofziger grimly.

The New York Times has now published the names of six reporters who heard Nofziger discuss the homosexual case: Paul Hope of the Washington Star, David Broder of Newsweek, Carl Greenberg of the Los Angeles Times, Jack McDowell of the San Francisco Examiner and Bill Ames of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The same Nofziger, in an attempt to discredit Marianne Means' story, discourteously called her a "liar" and demanded that she be fired. Reagan also indicated in his Sacramento press conference that he had an agreement with California publishers to suppress the story.

The question now buzzing in political circles is—why? It would have been far less damaging for him to admit the facts and point out that he had fired the homosexuals. Why did he try to cover up? The question will be asked by the politicians for many months to come.

long vehicle containing a bar, a television set, a 12-speaker Hi-Fi set and a leather seat that turned into a revolving bed. At my home away from home, I was met by a butler who was expecting me.

"Mr. Hefner wants you to sleep in the Gold Room," he said.

"Why not?" I said, trying to look over his shoulder to see if there were any Bunnies lying around.

"Would you like a steam and swim before dinner?"

"Yeah," I said, thinking that's where the action must be.

I hurried down to the steam room, tore off my clothes and dashed in. I saw a nude body stretched out on a plank of wood. I peered through the vapors. I introduced myself as cartoonist Shel Silverstein. I asked him how long he had been staying at the mansion.

"Two weeks," he said.

"You must be awfully tired,"

"You can say that again," he said. "I stay up every night to watch the Johnny Carson Show."

After a swim, I had dinner with Silverstein and a bearded photographer from New York. At 9 o'clock Hugh Hefner came downstairs. He was dressed in pajamas and a bathrobe. "Oh, boy," I thought. "Now the action begins."

"What would you like to do?"

Hefner asked me.

"Anything you'd like to do," I said, chuckling.

"What about a game of gin rummy for a penny a point?"

We played until 8 o'clock in the morning. I lost $33.

On the plane going back to Washington the next day, I thought to myself, "Hefner sure goes to a lot of trouble to get somebody to play gin rummy with him."

SYLVIA PORTER

How To Use 'Credit'

You've seen it advertised — "tap credit," "ready credit," "ready reserve," "checking-plus," "the overdraft plan." You are probably among the millions who have been invited by your bank to "write a check larger than your balance" or indulge in overdrafts without the usual penalties.

How does this new form of credit work? Who qualifies for it? When is it economical to use it, and when not?

The new service, under whatever advertised name, is an automatic line of credit offered by your bank. In some cases the ready credit reserve is an extension of your checking account; in others the reserve may be kept in a separate account involving special checks. Usually the amount of a ready credit reserve is between $500 and $1,000, but it may run up to $5,000.

In either case, the overdraft check or special check you may write becomes a loan as soon as it reaches your bank. In either case also, the typical interest rate, including credit life insurance, is 1 per cent a month on the basis of the daily outstanding balance, which works out to a yearly true interest rate of 12 per cent.

Typically, no interest charge is made unless and until you actually use your special line of credit, and the interest charge stops when you repay the amount you have withdrawn from your reserve.

"Ready credit" is granted only to "qualified" customers and the requirements for eligibility are generally more strict than those for ordinary bank loans because the credit reserve, once granted, is available year after year.

As an illustration of the costs involved at 1 per cent a month interest, let's say you over-draw your checking account by $100. If you repaid the amount one month later, the cost to you would be $1. If you repaid the total after one week, the cost would be 23 cents. If you repaid it in one day, the cost would be 3 cents.

Today, says the American Bankers Association about one in 10 of the nation's banks offer "some form of revolving credit," and the proportion is growing by the month.

Under what circumstances is it to your advantage to use this type of credit and when is it a disadvantage? Here are some revealing answers from top experts at the First National City Bank of New York:

"If you spot a major bargain, an appliance selling at a big discount, for example, you probably would save by using the overdraft plan. Here, the amount of interest you would pay would be dwarfed by your savings on the appliance, assuming you repaid the special loan within a few weeks or months.

"If an emergency arises on a weekend, or when you are far from home, a reserve credit line may be the easiest and surest way to raise emergency funds.

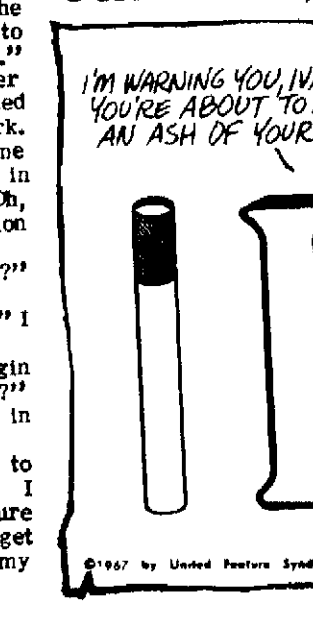

"If you are a chronically bad bookkeeper, the interest on a reserve credit line might be less costly to you than a pile of service charges for overdraft checks, and it might save you the tremendous embarrassment of bouncing checks.

"If you are self-employed and your income goes into sharp but temporary dips, the credit may provide you with enough peace of mind to make it worth the interest you pay.

A fundamental guide is that your line of ready credit should be strictly for short-term purposes, and your overdrafts should be repaid as quickly as possible.

Thus, this credit is not the right type for when you're paying longer-term debts — financing a car, a planned home improvement, your child's college education. Banks throughout the nation offer other types of loans for these purposes at significantly lower interest rates.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

Democracy has suffered quite a booting around in Warren county for the past few years, with the vital county commissioner office serving as the focal point of abuses. For two terms a man has been returned to that office without a clearcut mandate from the people.

In 1963, Deac Lay swept into office with 7,115 votes. Blain Mead received only 5,868, just 403 votes ahead of Lew Crippen. In the primary this year, no one had a majority. No one had even a fourth of the Republican votes cast. This week Mead was elected with a little over 4,000 votes.

Warren county now has an opportunity to serve as a spearhead in efforts to correct such inequalities. It has elected a promising young man to the constitutional convention, William Clinger. It has chosen an assemblyman who has experience in elections supervision and in state plans for changes, William Allen.

There are at least two glaring faults that should be corrected. If a primary field is too large to guarantee a majority for any candidates there should be a runoff. When two are being elected, this should require a contest among the top four. When the nomination involves one man, three could be placed on the ballot.

Costly? Not nearly as costly as the bleak future of Warren county shapes up today. It is far more costly when democracy is not allowed to work. The other fault is the straight ticket arrangement. There should not be a straight ticket provision. Every voter should name his candidates, office by office.

Too long have the party bosses kept the straight party lever and the straight party box on the machines and the ballots. Other states have removed this undemocratic gimmick. Pennsylvania persists. "My party right or wrong" is the sad theme we hear too often in these vital, fast-moving times.

This was one of the major factors in Tuesday's election when the write-in effort to correct commissioner imbalance failed. It failed for several reasons, but basically because the existing system lends itself to undemocratic abuses. In the midst of this effort to assure good government in the courthouse, too many persisted in the easy way of voting for party. And perversely, there was the tendency on the part of some to place a desire "to get" the Republican leadership ahead of the need for capable officials. Actually the majority of the Republican committee and its chairman approved the write-in. But the split within the ranks killed it.

This in itself might be enough to defeat the write-in campaign. But there also were other factors. The primary one is the difficulty in performing the act. Many people are so accustomed to straight-ticket voting they know no other way. Either they become confused and fail to make the effort, or they do it incorrectly.

It would be interesting to know how many votes were tossed out because of blurred impressions made by the rubber stamps. I believe the rubber stamp approach was a mistake. Labels might have been better except for the problems they often cause in the machine mechanism.

I believe a write-in is just that, a "write-in," and I believe there is a way in which it can be made easy for the voter. However, I will retain that as a possible secret weapon in a future that may not be clarified by election law changes.

It was a strange election year. Much was said about the blocking in the courthouse. Yet the two men who did most to move Warren county ahead in many fields are out. The man who negatively opposed most of these progressive steps is in. The public never really stopped to think that if there is disagreement, someone must be right. No voting result in either the primary or the general election indicated that such an approach was used by the majority when they entered the voting booth.

To the Editor:

Let us fall prey to the "support our servicemen" propaganda. It would be well for us to remember that our "boys" have been responsible for hundreds of thousands of civilian casualties in Vietnam.

A Catholic priest reports: "I have seen my faithful burned up in napalm. I have seen the bodies of women and children blown to bits. I have seen all my villages razed. It is not possible."

A volunteer worker for the U.S. Agency for International Development writes from Vietnam: "Can you ever begin to imagine the utter horror of being in a village where the planes come in dropping fragmentation bombs to drive people into the open and then following with napalm and phosphorus bombs to get an effective 'kill'! My God, can you ever imagine what it is like in the villages? Do you know that at least five civilians are killed or wounded for every one combatant?"

How, in the Name of God, can we support our servicemen without at the same time supporting the crimes they are committing against God and humanity?

Sincerely,
Richard Walters

Hatcher Certified As Winner in Gary

By DONALD JANSON
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
GARY, Ind.—The Lake County election board yesterday certified Richard Hatcher as winner of Tuesday's election for Mayor by 1,389 votes.

Tuesday night, John G. Krupa, county Democratic chairman, had refused to sign the certification because of Republican allegations of fraud. In the campaign Krupa had led the opposition to the Negro Democrat after switching his support to the white Republican candidate, Joseph B. Radigan.

Yesterday Krupa, who is secretary of the election board and the county board of canvassers, changed his stand and certified that the official count in Tuesday's bitterly contested election was 39,330 to 37,941.

The narrow victory, on racial lines, will make Hatcher the first Negro mayor of this industrial city of 180,000, unless the courts uphold charges of voting irregularities.

At a news conference at noon yesterday, Radigan refused again to concede defeat. The 47-year-old furniture dealer charged violation of election laws at several polling places and said he would cite them in a court action to overturn the election.

The city, of which Negroes make up 55 per cent of the population, was tranquil. Gov. Roger D. Branigan demobilized 4,000 National Guard troops standing by near Gary. He had called out the troops as a preventive measure after receiving reports that the steel mill city was in "imminent danger" of election night rioting.

Much of the tension had been eased Monday when the federal district court in Hammond upheld Hatcher allegations of a scheme by Krupa and other defendants to doctor registration rolls in an effort to elect Radigan.

The court enjoined Krupa and election officials appointed by him from seeking to "dilute" the vote of Negro residents by fraud. It ordered measures taken to insure a "fair and non-discriminatory" election.

Gary's midtown section, where the overwhelming majority of the city's Negroes are crowded into an all-black ghetto, was jubilant yesterday. Normally Democratic, the Negro precincts had supported Hatcher with 96 per cent of their vote.

The Negro candidate carried all Negro precincts in the city overwhelmingly and lost all white precincts. White registration exceeded Negro registration slightly, but the Negro turnout was greater. The total vote was a record high for a Gary election.

In white neighborhoods, the mood yesterday ranged from bitterness to joy. Many whites were disappointed but resigned.

"I didn't want it to come out this way," said a housewife in a typical comment, "but as long as he does his job right I guess we can get used to anything."

Hatcher received 17 per cent of the white vote. The total climbed to 24 per cent in sections of the white Miller neighborhood occupied by well educated middle-class residents and Jews. Whites in the Polish, Slavic, Czech and Greek neighborhoods of Glen Park gave him slightly less than 10 per cent of their vote.

In Indiana's 1964 presidential primary, Gov. George C. Wallace carried every white precinct of Gary, scoring his most impressive victories in the ethnic working class neighborhoods of Glen Park.

Stokes Wins in Cleveland Voting

By ANTHONY RIPLEY
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
CLEVELAND—Ballooting that was unanimous—or just short of it—in Negro precincts plus an estimated 43,000 white votes brought Democrat Carl B. Stokes a narrow victory Tuesday in Cleveland's municipal election.

The Negro mayor-elect, who takes office next Monday, came from 20,000 votes behind to win the mayoralty by 2,501 voter in unofficial returns over Republican Seth C. Taft. The outcome was not known until shortly before 3 a.m. EST yesterday as the last nine of the city's 903 precincts were counted.

In five Negro precincts, Taft was unable to win a single vote. In all but two of the 19 precincts of ward 17 on the city's largely Negro east side, Taft was unable to draw more than 10 votes.

In contrast, Stokes's lowest vote totals were 11 in three all-white precincts.

He managed to win 21 per cent of the vote in the city's largely white west side, winning about half of his total support there. He also took 20 per cent of the white vote in pockets of nationality groups on the east side. These two areas alone gave him 43,160 votes.

His heaviest backing was in the Negro community where he received 86,669 votes, 94.5 per cent of the Negro votes cast. The heavy Negro majorities were attributed to a highly organized campaign by the Stokes forces. They had appointed 2,000 block supervisors and charged each of them with turning out at least 30 votes apiece on election day.

While his organizational work was going on, Stokes concentrated on calming fears in the white community.

To win, he needed support in the white community because only 35 per cent of Cleveland's 811,000 residents are Negroes.

He received his most substantial boost in the white community through his endorsement in the primary by the Plain Dealer, Cleveland's morning newspaper, when he challenged incumbent Mayor Ralph Locher.

Carl Stokes

After defeating Locher by 18,776 votes in the primary Oct. 3, he picked up endorsements from the Cleveland Press, the Democratic party and labor. However, both party and labor support were weakened by the racial issue.

In the election, the total vote was 257,157, which was 78 per cent of the total registration of 326,033.

Final unofficial returns from the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections were:
Stokes ..... 129,829
Taft ..... 127,328

Badly Battered Aid Bill Sent to the White House

By FELIX BELAIR JR.
(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—Congress approved and sent to the White House yesterday a badly battered $2.7 billion foreign aid authorization bill for the fiscal year that ends June 30.

The Senate passed the measure by a voice vote and 15 minutes of perfunctory debate after the House voted 205 to 187 to approve the Senate-House compromise measure as "the best we can get in the circumstances."

Moments before the House voted its approval of the measure, a more crucial tally of 201 to 196 killed an effort to send the bill back to conference with Senate negotiators under instructions to restore several anti-administration amendments included in the original House bill.

One of these, by Rep. H. R.

Gross, R-Iowa, would have directed the President to prohibit all aid, credits of military purchases and sales between the United States and countries permitting ships and planes of their registry to engage in trade with North Vietnam.

Administration supporters told the House the proposal would prohibit the stationing of U.S. troops in Britain by forbidding the purchase of normal supplies in that country. They said it would undermine the western alliance by banning cash military transactions with Italy, West Germany and Norway. Under the bill as passed much of the language remains but the President is authorized to waive its application in the national interest.

Vehicle Registration Lists Supply Names For 'Junk' Mail

By ANTHONY De NIGRO
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The sale of motor vehicle registration lists by the states supplies one of the nation's largest reservoirs of names for "junk" mailers, an Associated Press survey showed Monday.

One firm, R. L. Polk & Co. of Detroit, is practically the only customer for the lists, and it buys them for prices ranging from $70,000 in New York to $8 in West Virginia.

Some states apparently just give them away.

Polk is a privately owned firm and doesn't make public financial statements. It won't say how much it pays for the lists, or how much it makes on them, but the survey showed it gets the bulk of 95 million names and addresses for not much more than $500,000.

Polk has several uses for the lists, but one is for resale to direct mail advertisers—the firms which send you the "come-on" flysheets and advertisements for products your auto registration indicates you might be interested in.

While the states are indirectly adding to the flood of "junk mail," the U.S. Post Office is contending that direct mailers aren't paying their own way, and is demanding a 32 per cent increase in third-class mail rates.

The sale of official public records for commercial uses has created a controversy over invasion of privacy, resulting in court cases in New York and Connecticut.

Norman S. Chapin of Ware-house Point, Conn., who was angered by the amount of junk mail he received, won a preliminary round last May and is awaiting a full trial. Writer Cor-liss Lamont lost in a New York court but is appealing.

But most motor vehicle department officials interviewed in the survey considered the sale routine. They cited laws which make the records public and, in most cases, added that sale of the list to Polk gives the state an added source of revenue.

Polk is a 97-year-old firm which also publishes 1,400 city directories. "We do not invade anyone's privacy," said Alvin

Kropf, Polk's senior vice president. "As business statisticians and publishers, we gather public information and refine and publish such facts and figures which are set out in open public records."

The AP survey found that Polk buys or trades for most of the 95 million names and addresses of auto registrants directly through the state capitol. The price apparently is based on what the particular state thinks its list is worth.

Polk even has the list of those places which don't sell them. These include Illinois, Alaska, South Dakota, Kentucky and Washington, D.C.

New York's $70,000 a year is the most Polk pays for a single list. It pays California, which has the nation's biggest motor vehicle population, $47,000, Alabama $52,000, Michigan only $1,200, South Carolina charges $75, Wisconsin $120.

In Nebraska, Polk pays a state clerk's salary to send it individual registrants, which it alphabetizes and then returns to Lincoln.

In New Jersey, Polk is the super sleuth which traces 400,000 parking scofflaws a year by looking up the owners of cars ticketed only by license plate. In return it gets the state's registration list free.

Several states think selling their lists is a public service. Minnesota sells its list to Polk and up to 100 others, from a computer printout of 210,000 boat owners to lists of dentists.

Virginia sells its two million auto registrations to Polk for about $11,000. A.T. Beale, deputy motor vehicles commissioner, sees it as a safeguard to mailbox privacy.

"Actually," he said, "I believe the sale of our lists reduces the amount of junk mail since the automotive industry is able to send mailers to specific customers it wants to reach."

"Oh? I thought they were pieces of kindling."

NEW YORK (AP) — Four big unbeaten football teams sitting on a ledge, two fell off and then there were two.

Some people have taken to wearing their counterspy raincoats right through the winter. Too bad. There's a way to be fashionably winterized—and still stay warm—in a smart outercoat, by Michaels/Stern.

Look at the plaid coat sketched here. Notice the new, shorter length. The welted, slash pockets. The comfortable, trim shape. And this coat is warm!

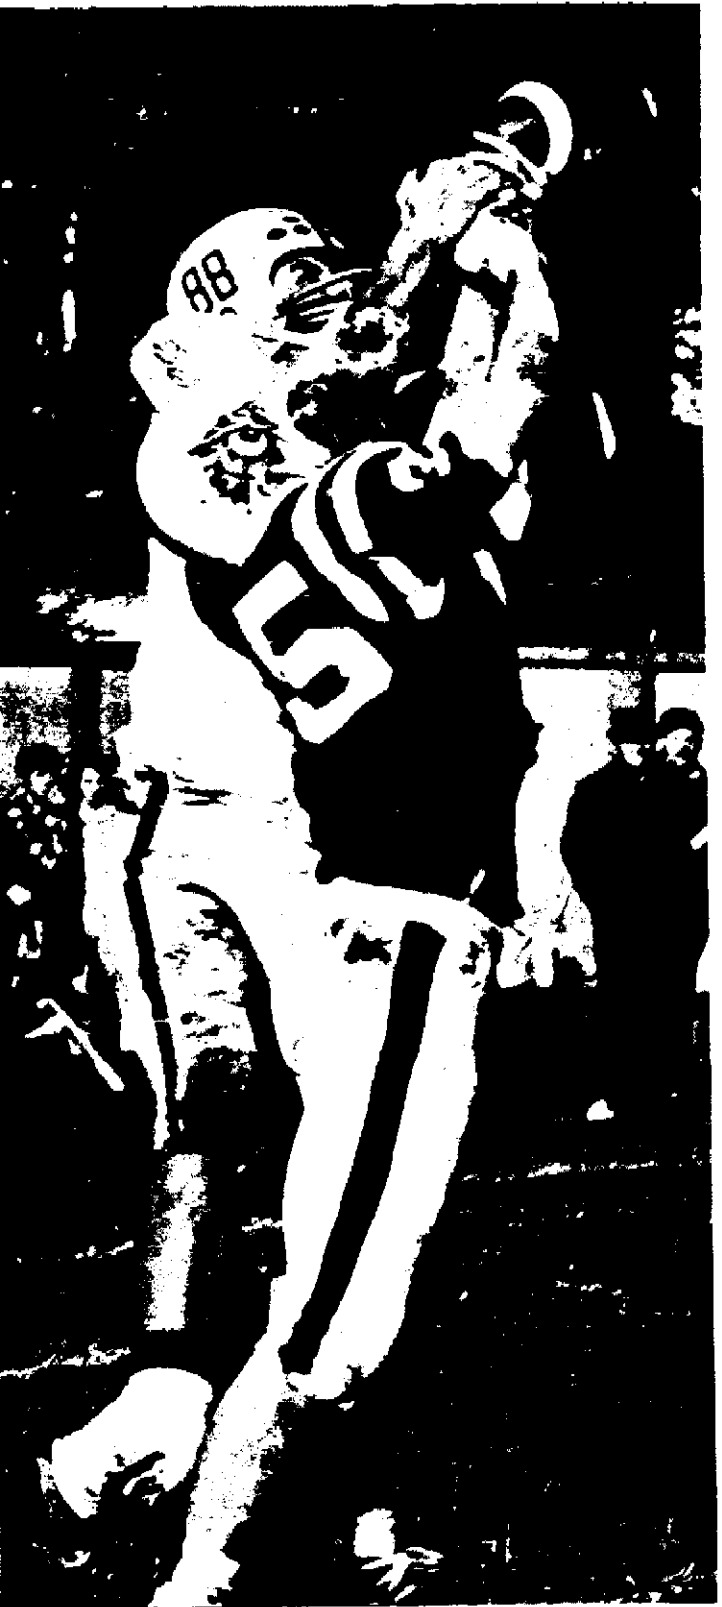

Come in out of the cold and try on a good-looking outercoat in your size.

Detroit Rallies To Edge Knicks
DETROIT (AP) — Hot shooting by Dave Bing and Terry Dischinger sparked the Detroit Pistons in a fourth period comeback last night as they halted the New York Knickerbockers, four-game winning streak with a 110-108 National Basketball Association victory.
Trailing 84-79 after three quarters, the Pistons surged in front to build up an 11-point lead with 1:34 left, but had to hang on to fight off the Knicks and post their third straight victory.
Dischinger and Bing each flipped in nine points in the closing drive. It was a three-point play by Dischinger, followed by another basket that made it 93-90 for the Pistons with 6:41.
Bing and John Tresvant then joined Dischinger to build Detroit's margin to 110-99.
Willis Reed hit 28 points to lead the Knicks while Bing led the Pistons with 24.

Two Sheffield Gridders On AML All-Star Team

Two Sheffield High football players, Mike Steffan and Robbie Hart, have been named to the Allegheny Mountain League's "Most Valuable Player" list for the 1967 season.
Steffan, a 150-pound senior halfback, was converted from quarterback in mid-season by Coach Joe Giordano and bolstered the Wolverines' running attack. His running was instrumental in Sheffield's victories over Youngsville and the Bradford Reserves.
Hart is a 160-pound junior, who was a starting halfback on defense and also saw a lot of action on offense. A consistent player over the course of the season, he was an alert ball-hawk and deadly tackler.
With the Border Conference combined with the AML, 16 other area gridders were selected to the All-Star team.
In addition to Steffan, and Hart other backfield men on the list include Randy Nuhfer and Mike York of Otto-Eldred, Karl Lang of Cuba, N.Y., Ricky Grimes and Geoff Grace of Allegany, N.Y., Greg Caskey and Kris McDowell of Port Allegany, Mike Petruzzi and Gary Cunningham of Smethport, King Cole of Coudersport and Lance Chaffee of Portville, N.Y.
The linemen are John Lawton of Cuba, N.Y., Bud Allen and Bill Cossaboon, both of Bolivar, N.Y., Dan Dibble of Portville, N.Y., and Coudersport's Butch Haskins.
Nuhfer of Otto-Eldred and Allegany's Ricky Grimes are the only repeaters from the 1966 MVP list.
Hart and Chaffee of Portville are both juniors, the only underclassmen on the roster.
The AML All-Stars will be honored at the Olean Times Herald Football Testimonial at the Olean House on Monday, November 27. Alex Yunevich of Alfred University will be the principal speaker at the fete, which will also include stars of the Bucktail Conference and the Seneca Conference.

Black Hawks Take First At Home, Nip Canadiens

CHICAGO (AP) — Two goals by Stan Mikita and one by Pit Martin gave the Chicago Black Hawks a 3-2 victory over the Montreal Canadiens last night.
The triumph was only the third of the season for the National Hockey League champion Black Hawks and their first at home in five games.
Montreal dropped to fifth place in the East Division behind the Boston Bruins, who defeated New York Wednesday night.
The Canadiens opened the scoring in the first minute of the second period when Bobby Rousseau took the puck away from Mikita during a face-off to the left of the Chicago cage and dribbled it through goalie Denis DeJordy from 20 feet away.
Mikita got the goal back a few minutes later. He was in front of Montreal goalie Gump Worsley to take Doug Mohns, pass from the left corner and rammed the puck into the cage.
Martin converted on a pass from Bobby Hull at 16:32 of the middle period for his fourth goal of the year.
Mikita, the league's scoring champion last year, then hit the winner for the Hawks at 18:22 of the finale. He took a pass from Pat Stapleton near the Montreal blue line and slammed a 25-footer over Worsley's shoulder.
Gilles Tremblay pulled the Canadiens to within one goal at the 19-minute mark of the third period.
The Canadiens lost John Ferguson for several games when he suffered a fractured right hand.

Doin's At The Dam

Interest flared recently when a rumor that funds for the proposed fish hatchery below the Kinzua Dam had been cut and scheduled completion of the facility would be unduly retarded at a time when sportsmen feel that a Federal hatchery is needed to replace the one abandoned on Farnsworth some time ago.

Shortly after getting a call from Livio Colosimo, president of the Bradford Sportsman's Club, I wrote Tom Luken, assistant to R. E. Griffith, and asked him to fill me in on the facts. Within a few days I had the following reply from Dick Griffith himself.

Dear Mr. Neal:

We can well understand and appreciate the concern of you, Mr. Colosimo, and other local supporters for the lack of funding and construction activity on the Kinzua Hatchery, as expressed in your recent letter to Mr. Luken.

You are aware, of course, that we do have funds available for site preparation work and this work is in progress.

We cannot venture to say when funding for construction and development of the hatchery will be available. We can only say at this time, that in support of the cost of the defense effort of our Nation, we are not permitted to program new construction starts in non-defense items.

Sincerely yours,
Richard E. Griffith
Regional Director
Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife
Boston, Mass.

The reason I had addressed my letter to Tom Luken was that when I talked with him recently he told me that it was not the intention of the Bureau to have the Kinzua facility in operation before 1970. Tom said that until then they would not have qualified workers to man the project and present requirements were being met by the hatchery at Lamar, Pa. But at that time he felt certain that the hatchery would be constructed and ready for operation by that time.

Fine and dandy! But now it appears that we may have to wait for a decision in Vietnam before we can start catching the trout that will be reared at the Kinzua Dam.

Anyhow, a matter of far more importance to the area as a whole has cropped up since my correspondence with Dick Griffith. A gate has been put across the access road leading to the super-duper fishing that is to be had in the tailwaters of the dam at the hatchery site.

So once again I have got off a letter to Dick explaining that the tailwater area has provided the best and most used recreational development at the dam this past summer, attracting visitors from practically every state in the nation. Mostly because the fabulous fishing there has been covered by articles in at least five magazines with national coverage. And because it is the one place in the entire nation, perhaps, where the fisherman can cast his bait upon the waters and have a chance of coming up with any one of four of the gamiest fresh water species — trout, bass, giant walleyes, and muskellunge.

Further than this, I detailed just how important such an outstanding recreational area could be to a community trying to develop tourism as a boost to its economy. That in the end, the fishing in the tailwaters of the Kinzua Dam could and would be our most "saleable" feature in attracting visitors to Warren County. But with a gate across the access road we were being clipped out just when the reputation of the tailwaters was reaching a peak.

As this letter was just recently posted, I have not had a reply from Griffith. However, last year when the gate was closed and the Corps of Engineers agreed to open it if his office didn't object, he was most cooperative. So I expect a favorable reply at this time.

And while attending the meeting at Tionesta last Saturday, I talked with Tom Groutage, local fisheries manager for the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, about his recent checks of the dam's fast developing fish populations. Tom is extremely enthusiastic about the dam as a fisherman's paradise and reports that all stocked species are doing well. The growth rate is exceptional, he says.

In addition, he tells me that the crapple (or calico) bass in the lake have really surprised him. Not only are they there by the thousands, but they have already grown to a 6-7 inch length and should be quite larger by spring to furnish some great sport.

And who doesn't like to fish crappies?

I've met trout enthusiasts, walleye enthusiasts, bass enthusiasts, and musky enthusiasts throughout my years of fishing and I've never met a one of them yet that wouldn't take a day off from his favorite species to fish for crappies. They may be the schoolboy's friend, but they're the dedicated fisherman's meat. It's good news that they are going to be plentiful in the dam.

Opening Round World Cup Golf Pairings Announced

By CHARLES GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
MEXICO CITY (AP) — The defending champion U.S. team of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer is paired with Ireland's Ryder Cuppers, Hugh Boyle and Christy O'Connor, today in the opening round of the 15th World Cup golf competition.

The millionaire Americans jetted to the scene Tuesday in their private planes and found themselves rated solid 2-1 favorites against 39 other hand-picked teams from throughout the world.

Nicklaus took a quick exploratory swing around the 7,216-yard, par 72 Club de Golf Mexico, but Palmer delayed his first practice until yesterday.

The length of the course, the longest over which this tournament ever has been played, and the fact that the ball flies farther in the 1 1/2 mile-high Mexico City altitude has made the two long-hitting Yanks almost prohibitive choices.

Both are expected to reach the par five holes easily in two shots and reduce many of the par fours to simple wedge approaches.

Chief threat to the Americans is the South African pair of Gary Player and Harold Henning, who swept both the team and individual titles in 1965 (Player was the individual winner), rated 6-1 in the informal and non-betting odds.

Also rated highly are Canada's George Knudson and Al Balding; Australia's Bruce Crampton and Allan Murray and all of the four teams from the British Isles—Wales, Ireland, Scotland and England.

The latter teams are made up of seasoned Ryder Cup players who have just finished battling the U.S. top pros in the biennial international series at Houston, Texas. O'Connor and Boyle will be among the toughest.

Knudson, the Canadian, is defending champion in the individual competition, having beaten out Hideyo Sugimoto of Japan in a playoff in Tokyo last year.

Palmer has shared in five team championships, three with Nicklaus, but never has taken the individual crown. Like the American PGA title, it is an honor he is eager to grab before his career ends.

Ex-Buc Bob Friend Is 1-0 in Politics

By Charles J. Bierbauer
Associated Press Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Friend won 197 major league baseball games as a pitcher. He's 1-0 as a politician.

But he missed that bullpen help. Friend was elected Allegheny County controller in Tuesday's election, upsetting county Democratic chairman James W. Knox, who had held the office for 20 years.

"It's quite a thrill, being the first time out," said Friend.

Reds Trade Art Shamsky to NY

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati first baseman-outfielder Art Shamsky was traded to the New York Mets yesterday for infielder Bob Johnson, Reds' officials announced.

Johnson, 31, registered his best year in the majors in 1967 as he hit .348 and slammed eight doubles, three triples and five home runs.

Johnson spent six years in the American League before being traded from Baltimore to New York on May 10.

Shamsky, 26, played for Cincinnati three years and hit .197 in 1967.

ASSOCIATION TO RUN AT WATTSBURG, CONNEAUT, OHIO

Late Model Drivers Plan Racing At Two Area Tracks Next Season

The recently organized Late Model Division of the Bay City Racing Association made tentative plans on November 4 to race at the Wattsburg Fair Grounds next season. It will be called the Wattsburg Speedway under management of the Bay City Racing Association President, Larry Parmenter, and Associates. The Association has also met with and arrived at a suitable agreement with the owners of a to be newly constructed 1/3 mile dirt track just off I-90 on Route 7 near Conneaut, Ohio.

The group is planning completely new promotional angles to stimulate crowd interest. Fewer long races and more sprint-type or 25-lap events are being planned.

They also are contemplating added attractions, such as pitting local disc jockeys against newspaper men, and are working on a new type of race called "Rat Race" which would employ the same type of cars used in demolition events except that the cars will be used for racing purposes instead of eventual destruction. This type of car will give the novice a chance to feel his way into racing and thereby encourage more comers into the racing game. It will also give them a chance to hold some of the old style powder puff races, where the ladies have a chance to have fun as well as the crowd. They are even giving serious thought to inviting a well-known driver from the grand national circuit and have him use one of the better late models to pit his skill against our local talent.

Racing is hoped to be underway around next Memorial Day, depending on the weather conditions as both tracks must be completed before any racing. At Wattsburg only the front straightaway of the present track will be utilized. After that, the track will veer off on a banked 1/3 mile course using up about 1/2 of the present 1/2 mile area track. The Conneaut Track, Raceway No. 7, will be a 1/3 mile banked track or about the same as was the old Eriez-Busti circuit tracks, whose owners have announced Model Program next year due to the fact that they refuse to deal with the Late Model Organization at any level.

Wattsburg Speedway will feature a Saturday evening show while Raceway No. 7 will run Sunday night.

Parmenter also revealed that they plan an Early Model Division or Jolopy Class consisting of stock cars from about 1953 to 1962 models with a 352 cubic inch limit and a $400 claimer on consistent winners who pile up 9 or more claimer points. Anyone interested in racing this type car should keep posted with the local news media as an early first of the year meeting is planned to hand out rules, receive memberships, etc. This class should prove very interesting as the average novice can easily get into it for from $150 to $300.

Parmenter revealed that parking facilities, concession stands (with good quality food) will be more than adequate to accommodate the fans, and that general admission ticket prices are expected to be kept to $1.50 with very few extra event programs to exceed this figure.

Dodgers Hoping Orioles Will Trade Aparicio

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vice President E. J. (Buzzie) Bayasi disclosed yesterday the Los Angeles Dodgers are interested in making a deal for shortstop Luis Aparicio of the Baltimore Orioles—but the deal is up to the Orioles.

"Yes, we are interested in getting Aparicio, and we have talked to Harry Dalton of the Orioles," said Bayasi. "If we can satisfy them, we'll get the shortstop. If we can't, that's the end of it."

The Dodgers feel Aparicio, a star in the American League for years, has several good seasons left and would fill the void which developed when Maury Wills was traded to Pittsburgh last season.

Mayor Barr Shows Strength

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mayor Joseph M. Barr flexed his muscles and showed more political strength than most people thought he had.

Aside from a close defeat in the Allegheny County district attorney's office and a surprising setback at the hands of former Democrat and baseball pitcher Bob Friend, the Barr-backed Democratic slate crushed Republicans and party dissidents alike.

It gave Barr a leg up on the top spot in the Pennsylvania Democratic party only months before Democrats begin their drive to re-elect President Johnson.

State Democrats have been without a powerful leader since former Gov. David L. Lawrence died a year ago. With Philadelphia Democrats deeply split and the party a minority elsewhere in the state, Barr assumed the role of logical successor.

A measure of Barr's influence even before Tuesday's election was the trek of both parties of Pittsburgh last month for a conference with the mayor in an attempt to break the tax impasse in Harrisburg.

Labor Amendment Passed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pennsylvania voters overwhelmingly approved a proposed constitutional amendment to provide compulsory and binding arbitration in labor disputes involving policemen and firemen.

In unofficial returns yesterday from 7,829 of 9,462 voting districts, the yes vote was 1,020,480 to 319,708 no votes.

The proposal still must go before the General Assembly, but it is not bound by Tuesday's vote to pass the proposal. That's because the question the voters approved said the General Assembly "may" pass the necessary bill. It doesn't say "shall."

Dennis J. Nicholson, a Haverford Township policeman, and state president of the Federal Order of Police, said the state's voters "have shown that they are interested in maintaining law and order by maintaining competent personnel." He called the passage a "shot in the arm" for policemen and firemen.

Sen. Joseph Clark Hints He'll Run for a Third Term

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., back from stumping Pennsylvania in behalf of local Democratic candidates, hinted yesterday he will be a candidate next year for a third term.

"Let no one assume that Joe Clark is ready to retire," he said.

An announcement of his decision on whether to seek re-election will be made within a few weeks, Clark said.

Now 66, the senator had hinted earlier he might not run again. In an Oct. 10 interview on a Pittsburgh radio station, he said he'd told President Johnson, "if he's not out of Vietnam by the middle of next summer, he'll get licked, and I'll probably go down to defeat with him."

The senator's latest comment on his future was made as he hailed the results of Tuesday's Pennsylvania elections, saying they were a demonstration of the vitality of the Pennsylvania Democratic party.

He cited Democratic victories in Philadelphia, Reading, Allentown and Allegheny county and a strong Democratic showing in Harrisburg.

"Once again the people of Pennsylvania have endorsed the solid record of progress we Democrats have built," Clark said in a statement.

Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., who is considering running for Clark's seat, said he, too, was pleased with the results.

Schweiker pointed particularly to Republican capture of local offices in suburban counties.

A local groundswell, he said, was evident for the TOP in suburban Philadelphia. He pointed also to the strongest Republican showing in years in the Philadelphia mayoralty race and GOP victories in Allegheny County.

The Philadelphia race, in which Mayor James H. J. Tate, Democrat, defeated Arlen Specter, a Republican was "an election unto itself and not indicative of a trend," Schweiker said.

Schweiker is expected to decide by Jan. 15 whether he will run for re-election or seek the Republican nomination for the Senate.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., who is in England, wired congratulations to the Allegheny County GOP, hailing a "Republican resurgence" which he said "heralds the breakdown of state one-party control." Both the Democrats and Republicans found things to cheer about in Allegheny County.

Scott is lecturing at Oxford University. The text of his telegram was released by his senate office.

Women Score Election Wins In Towns Across the Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A number of U.S. communities have elected their first women mayors.

And a survey of Tuesday's balloting showed that other women scored pioneering victories for city and county offices, including places on municipal councils and school boards.

In Hartford, Conn., Republican Miss Antonina P. Uccello, 45, a department store executive, defeated Mayor George B. Kinsella, a Democrat.

Miss Uccello becomes the first woman mayor in the history of Hartford, long a Democratic stronghold and the home of John M. Bailey, the party's national chairman.

Voters of Indianapolis elected an expectant mother as city clerk. Marjorie H. O'Laughlin, 38, a Republican, defeated the Democratic incumbent, Angeline Allstatt.

"Some people were a little appalled when they found out their clerk candidate was expecting a child," said Mrs. O'Laughlin, already the mother of six, ages 7 to 16. She said she would take time out from her new job about six weeks from now to have the baby.

In Portsmouth, N.H., Eileen Foley, 49, followed in the footsteps of her mother by finishing with the top vote in a non-partisan race for nine City Council seats. That entitles her to the office of mayor.

Mrs. Foley's mother, the late Mary Dondero, was Portsmouth's first woman mayor. She served from 1945 to 1947, and there hadn't been another of their sex since.

"It's going to give women a new stature," Mrs. Foley, mother of three, said of her victory. "I didn't expect to become mayor, just wanted to get on the council."

A Democratic distaff slate of four housewives displaced the Republican mayor and half the council members in Sayreville, N.J. The new mayor, Mary M. Peggy Kerr, has four children.

In Sheridan, Colo., Jane E. Rosenbach ran on a platform opposing an alleged speed trap and sent Mayor Wilfred D. Corbin down to defeat.

"If a speed trap exists I will eliminate it," vowed the mother of six.

In Colfax, Iowa, Nettie Bale, 51 and a grandmother, took umbrage when Mayor Robert D. Hendee put his brother-in-law on the police force. She ran against him and now it's ex-Mayor Hendee.

Re-elected mayor of Greeley, Colo., was Dorothy Zarba, who commented: "Maybe you would call it women's intuition, but I felt I was going to win."

Senate Rejects Bill That Would Delay Redistricting

BY JOHN HERBERS

(c) N.Y. Times News Service

WASHINGTON — The Senate rejected yesterday the conference committee bill that was intended to delay court enforcement of congressional redistricting until 1972.

The vote was 55 to 22 against acceptance of the conference bill, which the House had approved by a vote of 241 to 105.

Technically, the conference committee could meet back and vote out a substitute bill, but members on both sides of the issue said that as a practical matter the bill is dead.

Yesterday's vote, therefore, was a victory for a small group of junior members of both houses who for the last six months have fought attempts by congressional leaders to weaken the Supreme Court's decision of 1964 that congressional districts within a state must be substantially equal in population.

The successful floor fight against the bill was led by Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., a freshman who is the son-in-law of Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader.

Even though Dirksen was a member of the conference committee and a supporter of the bill, Baker persuaded 22 Republicans, all but four of those present, to vote against the measure. Dirksen was not in Washington and did not participate in the debate.

One objection to the bill was that it bore no relation to the versions passed by either the House or Senate, which attempted to set standards for carrying out the Supreme Court's one-man-one-vote decision. The main provision of the conference bill said:

"No state shall be required to redistrict prior to the 19th federal decennial census unless the results of a special federal census" is available for use by the state.

Because no state is considered likely to order and pay for such a census, the effect of the bill would have been for Congress to tell the courts to stop enforcing redistricting until the congressional elections of 1972.

Immediately after the conference bill was rejected, Baker introduced as a rider to a routine immigration bill the only portion of the conference bill he said was commendable — a ban against electing House members from the state at large.

The bill was then immediately passed, with the rider attached and sent to the House, where it was expected to receive similar approval.

Since 1964, district lines in 33 states have been reshaped to comply with the court order — some voluntarily, some under court order and a few by the courts themselves when the legislatures could not agree on boundaries.

Speaks on Mental Health

Mental Health was the topic of a program presented yesterday to Warren Kiwanis Club by Dr. Walter Finken, clinical director at Warren State Hospital.

Dr. Finken, who is in charge of community services, described the work of the new Warren County Mental Health Association, the Mental Health Act and the local four-county mental health board.

Dr. Finken said less mental health service was available to lower income families. High income groups, he indicated, used six times more psychotherapy than lower income groups. He stated also that poor people are more highly disturbed and have less access to treatment.

According to Dr. Finken, the new Mental Health Act strives to attack these problems.

Dr. Finken added that the Warren, Forest, Clarion and Venango Counties region is now organizing to select a director. Care will probably be based at the existing Oil City Mental Health Clinic, with satellite day clinics at Tionesta, Marietta, Clarion and Warren.

Plan Scout Roundtable

The Boy Scout program will highlight a visit by Dave Titus, Pennsylvania Game Commission representative, who will present ideas of game food, their identification, and projects for Scout troops.

Dr. Khlar McDonald will show slides that were taken at the International Jamboree and discuss this activity, along with the forthcoming 1969 United States Jamboree, which will be held in Idaho.

Explorer leaders will review programs scheduled for the next few months. This will include a visit to the Blue Jay Corps Camps and a spring bus trip. Charles Schaaf, Exploring roundtable commissioner, will also review with the Explorer leaders the new tours and expedition program of the B.S.A.

Historical

Look at County Race

There has been considerable conversation centered around the county commissioner race in Warren County, particularly since the primary election in May found 11 Republicans seeking the nomination.

Four years ago there were seven running under the GOP banner.

D. H. Lay and Blain M. Mead emerged the victors over Dr. Ross Bryan, Mrs. Helen Morrow, Arthur Probst, Perry McDannel and Clarence Akeley. In that election, Lay drew 2,957 votes; Bryan, 2,799; and Mead, 2,865. Morrow received 2,383; Probst, 1,058; McDannel, 1,953 and Akeley, 1,953. Five Democrats ran in 1963 with Lewis L. Crippen drawing a winning 1,541 primary votes over 1,401 for William L. Martin. Other Democrats, Robert L. Holmes, 851; Frank Fago, 695 and Carl Anderson, 588.

In the general election four years ago, Lay received 6,888; Mead, 5,659; Crippen, 5,329 and Martin, 4,903.

On May 17 of this year, primary election results ran as follows: Blain M. Mead, 2,647; Dr. David K. Rice, 2,768; Robert Walsh, 1,875; D. H. Lay, 884; Ralph Brasington, 1,461; James Marshall, 2,159; James Blomquist, 1,372; Tony Tomasoni, 1,075; Ellis Martin, 407; John Teonchuk, 273; Myron Kirberger, 514.

Democrats — Lewis L. Crippen, 931; Thomas Donnelly, 1,905; Sidney Mason, 750 and Chester Walker, 750.

Receives Bronze Star for Heroism in Vietnam Combat

"For heroism in connection with military operations against a hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam," a local man has been awarded the Bronze Star.

First Lieutenant James A. Klein, whose wife Judy resides at 301 Park st., Warren, distinguished himself while serving as a platoon leader in Company D, 4th Battalion, 31st Infantry on June 27 of this year.

According to the military report Lt. Klein, the son of Mrs. Fern L. Jennings, 2012 Jackson Run rd., arrived at a location where a captured Viet Cong had indicated weapons and other Viet Cong were hiding. After insuring that his men had surrounded the area, Lt. Klein approached the cave and, utilizing an interpreter, ordered the Viet Cong to surrender, promising them safe conduct as prisoners of war. His offer went unheeded in a hail of gun fire. The Viet Cong elected to remain in the cave.

Lt. Klein, with complete disregard for his own personal safety, the military report indicated, entered the cave system armed only with a 45 caliber pistol and a flashlight. He crawled to where he could observe the enemy behind cover, according to the report, and calling to the enemy told them to come out.

The Viet Cong again refused to come out. Lt. Klein, then under intense danger from the enemy force, who were just feet away, took the enemy under fire.

During the firing, Lt. Klein's weapon jammed, according to military officials. Instead of leaving his vantage point where he could observe the enemy, the report indicated, Klein remained in place and had another weapon sent to him.

Lt. Klein again met the enemy face to face in an exchange of gun fire, killing both of the hard-core Viet Cong. He then examined the cave recovering several weapons as well as valuable documents.

The military commendation stated Lieutenant Klein's extraordinary heroism in close contact against the "hard-core Viet Cong" was in keeping with the highest tradition of the military service and reflects great credit upon Klein, his unit and the United States Army.

Lt. Klein was awarded the Bronze Star by the direction of the President on Aug. 24, 1967.

Library Gets

Mammoth Book

A mammoth-sized reference book, "Books in Print 1967," which lists some 245,000 book titles currently available from publishers, has been added to Warren Public Library, according to Miss Mary E. Allen, reference librarian.

The 3,440-page, two volume publication covers every U.S. adult and juvenile book currently in print. The listings represent the output of 1,600 publishing houses. Each entry includes the exact title, author's full name, price, publisher, available editions and, in most cases, the year of publication or latest revision. Author entries are in volume one and title entries in volume two.

The library has also added "Subject Guide to Books in Print 1967," which indexes currently available books by some 30,000 subject headings.

Both guides, the librarian said, are invaluable in solving the book-finding needs of library patrons. The R. R. Bowker Co. of New York is publisher of both volumes.

'Has a Feeling' On Tax Impasse

By JOHN L. TAYLOR HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer said yesterday he was hopeful the General Assembly would adjourn before the Constitutional Convention convenes here Dec. 1.

However, the governor emphasized the need for the legislature to complete action on his controversial $287 million tax program in order to balance the administration's $1.8 billion budget for fiscal 1967-68.

"I don't want the legislature to adjourn until we get the issue resolved," Shafer told a news conference. "I'm hopeful that the issue will be resolved."

Shafer announced that he planned to meet Friday with the four House and Senate leaders who have been trying to reach a compromise agreement on the tax program.

He said he would receive a progress report at that time. The four leaders are Sens. Stanley G. Stroup, R-Bedford, and Ernest P. Kline, D-Beaver, and Reps. Lee A. Donaldson Jr., R-Allentown, and Herbert Fine-man, D-Philadelphia.

Shafer, citing what he termed he did not believe it wise for the legislature and convention to meet concurrently.

Asked if he had received any information to indicate that the an agreement on taxes, the governor said:

"I have a feeling that they're closer than they have been." Asked why, he replied:

"I don't know, I just have a feeling."

Broderick Is Likely Choice For State Con Con President

By VINCENT P. CARROCCI PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Lt. Gov. Raymond J. Broderick loomed yesterday as a likely choice for president of Pennsylvania's fifth constitutional convention now that Republicans have captured a majority of the 163 delegate seats.

The GOP came out of Tuesday's election with an 88-75 voting edge over the Democrats as third party and independent candidates failed to gain a seat in any of the 50 senatorial districts.

Former Gov. William W. Scranton, who finished second in the 22nd District, would have been regarded as the leading prospect for the chairmanship if he had not disavowed any interest a few weeks ago.

Scranton said the position should go to some one intimately involved in state government, and all indicators point to Broderick as the second-ranking elected official in the Commonwealth.

Broderick, as chairman of the 13-man legislative preparatory committee, already has been designated for an ex-officio seat at the convention. He refused to campaign for the office, however.

"I hope both parties will get behind the best the convention can offer," he said.

"It would be a great honor and a challenge," he added.

Three delegates, two majority and one minority, were elected in the 50 senatorial districts to join the 13 legislative leaders in the state's first constitutional convention since 1873.

Republicans won 81 of the elected seats. Complemented by seven votes on the preparatory committee, the GOP has 88 votes, six more than the majority of 82 to elect a president and determine the rules of operation.

Democrats won 69 of the elected seats and, with six votes among the ex-officio committee, have a voting potential of 75.

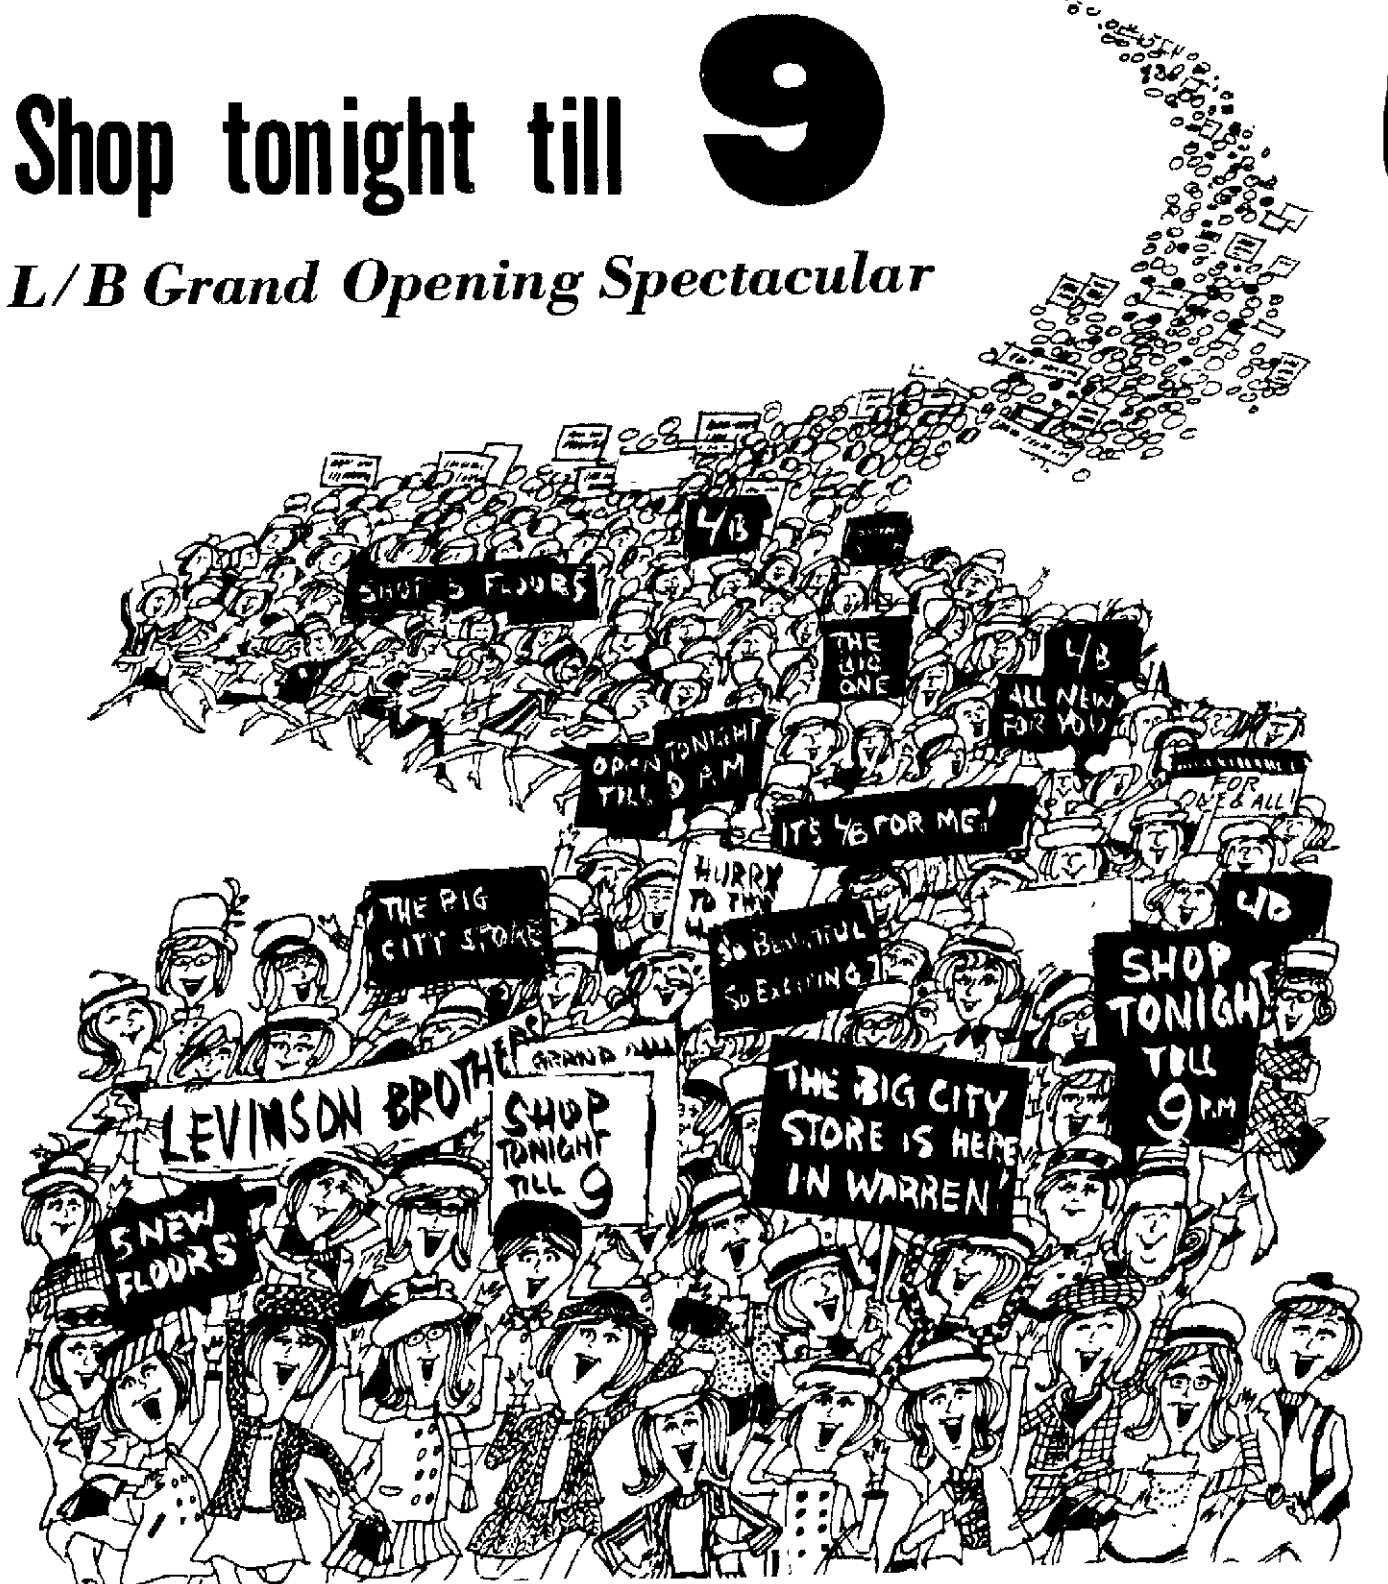

Balloting pretty much followed current registration figures and past voting patterns.

One big exception would be Philadelphia, where the GOP grabbed three districts while even the party's most faithful analysts were expecting no more than one.

Scranton finished second in the four-an contest in Lackawanna's traditionally Democratic bailiwick, trailing former Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Robert P. Casey by 2,800 votes.

Other notables seated for the convention included:

Pulitzer Prize-winning novelist James A. Michener, the lone Democrat from Bucks County's 10th District; former Republican Lt. Gov. Daniel B. Strickler, 1947-51, in Lancaster's 13th; former Superior Court judge Robert E. Woodside, 1953-65, Republican and acknowledged constitutional expert, in

Miss Patricia Jean Miller Bride of David A. Hall

One hundred guests gathered in the Emanuel Baptist Church, Starbrick, for the wedding of Patricia Jean Miller and David A. Hall on Saturday, October 28, at 2 o'clock. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Miller of 1307 Still st., Warren, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Effie Hall and the late Alton Hall of East Hickory.

The Rev. Howard Cartwright, pastor, read the double ring wedding rites, and organ music was provided by Mrs. Dorothy Engstrom. White gladioli, pink carnations with ferns ornamented the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a white peau taffeta and imported chantilly lace gown. The delicate lace etched with seed pearls formed the empire bodice which was designed with a scalloped portrait neckline and long sleeves tapering to wedding points. A pert bow secured the chapel train edged with a scalloped border of chantilly lace. A bouffant veil of pure silk illusion was caught to a scalloped double tiera of re-embroidered lace sprinkled with seed pearls and aurora borealis. She carried a cascade of white carnations with ivy foliage.

Pam Miller, sister of the bride, was maid of honor dressed in an azalea pink velvet empire bodice defined with a satin band tied into a back bow and streamers over the floor-length rose crepe skirt. Joan Brindis, bridesmaid, was dressed in a similar ensemble.

Groomsmen for the ceremony were Terry Morrison of Tidou, John Cantale, Cleveland, and Robert Peterson.

The mother of the bride chose a worsted shantung sheath dress and jacket of blue with matching accessories. The mother of the groom wore a willow green silk dress and jacket with fuchsia accessories. Both mothers wore yellow carnations. Mrs. Twila Miller, grandmother of the bride, was remembered with yellow carnations.

The wedding reception was held in Pleasant Township Fire Hall with two hundred fifty guests attending. White wedding bells with pink and white streamers decorated the room. A six tier wedding cake surrounded by spengler and white candles in silver holders adorned the bridal table. Aides were Dorothy Taylor, Marlene Peterson, Gloria Swanson, Karen Johnson and Peggy Teconchuk.

For traveling the bride wore a wool suit, gold and brown accessories and brown miniature mums. The newlyweds will reside at 2600 N. Sheridan road, Waukegan, Ill. 60085.

Mrs. Hall is a graduate of Warren Area High School and was employed at the New Process Company. Mr. Hall graduated from West Forest High School and is serving in the U.S. Navy.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Pam Miller, Joan Brindis, Rose Minnick, Betty Papalia, Marlene Peterson, Dorothy Taylor, Nancy Eck, Anise Ziegler and Ruth Hall.

Out of town guests traveled from California; Cleveland, Ohio; Meadville, Titusville, Corry, Guys Mills, East Hickory, Lionesta, Tidou, Star, Endeavor and Fryburg, Pa.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you told a wife who wondered if her husband was cheating in Vietnam not to ask him any questions when he returned. You also said, "If he volunteers the information, listen quietly, say nothing, forgive him and never bring up the subject again."

Is this sauce only for the goose, or does it also apply to the gander?

My brother has been in Vietnam for eight months. I have no proof but I could almost swear that his wife has entertained a former sweetheart in her apartment. It burns me up that she has always gotten away with the goody-goody act. Everyone in the family thinks she is a saint. I have a theory that people who go out of their way to be especially nice are hiding something.

I also have a theory that it is best to bring things out in the open and clear the air. When my brother comes home I plan to tell him of my suspicions and if his wife is innocent let her prove it. I studied commercial law in high school and this is the basis for American justice. Right? — NOT BLIND

DEAR NOT: You must have flunked the course. Needle-nose, because you've got it wrong. American justice is based on the concept that a person is innocent until proven guilty.

"Clear the air," my Aunt Minnie! You sound like a four-door, brass-plated trouble-maker and I hope your brother tells you to M.Y.O.B. the minute you open your mouth.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was widowed at 48. Two sons. One married the following year. The other married six months later. I gave them each $1,000 as a wedding gift.

Three months later the younger son asked if he could borrow $300. I said yes. He never paid it back so I gave his brother $300 also, because I wanted to be fair. Then the older boy asked if I would help him buy a house. I signed for his loan. He and his wife moved out of town six months later and I had to make good on the payments.

The following year they decided to move back to town. I gave them $5,000 to get started. I gave the other son $5,000, too, because I wanted to be fair.

Neither of these boys or their wives have the time of day for me unless they want to talk about borrowing money. They never ask me to their homes for a meal or invite me any place. I am nearly 70 and have very little money left. I am so depressed about the way my sons treat me that I don't know what to do. Any advice? — USED

DEAR USED: One thing you can do is stop being a money machine. I hope your letter will wake up other mothers who think gifts to children necessarily begot love and respect.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just read a letter in your column from a teen-ager. You answered: "I will be happy to listen to you any time you want to unload. That's what I'm here for."

Your answer touched me so that I cried. How wonderful to know there is somebody in this world a kid can count on. Yes, I know there are psychiatrists and counselors that will help, but you are more real. Thank you from the bottom of my heart for being there and caring. — A BUFFALO TEEN

DEAR TEEN: Thanks for letting me know I'm getting through. Your letter was a day-brightener.

Confidential to Trouble In The Movies: Tell him to keep his hands in the popcorn or find himself another girl.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents . . . if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Watson-Marquis Wedding In Grace Methodist Church

Linda Rae Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Watson of 11 S. Stockdale street, DuBois, became the bride of David Clarence Marquis, son of Mrs. Edith Marquis of Miller Hill road, Warren, on Saturday, October 28, in a 2 o'clock afternoon service in Grace Methodist Church.

The Rev. Wayne B. Price officiated for the double ring ceremony and traditional wedding music was provided by Richard P. R. t. i., organist. Candelabra and two baskets of pink and gold mums with gladioli ornamented the altar.

Escorted on the arm of her father, the bride wore a white peau de soie gown which was styled with a scalloped square neckline, long sleeves tapering to wedding points at the wrists and re-embroidered Alencon lace defining the empire waistline. Appliques of the lace accented the gown which had a detachable train of acetate taffeta falling in graceful folds from the shoulders and richly bordered with nylon molding. Her bouffant veil of nylon tulle was caught to a crown of pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a white bouquet of carnations and sweetheart roses encircling a corsage of white carnations. Her only jewelry was of crystals, the gift of the groom.

Mrs. James Baughman, matron of honor for her sister, was dressed in gold crepe with brocade contrasts; a matching veil of nylon malines and she carried a colonial bouquet of daisies. Bridesmaids, costumed similarly to the honor attendant but in pink with rose contrasts and carrying the same kind of bouquets, were Miss Patricia Loncaric and Mrs. Lynne Rhando, sister of the groom. The flower girl was Mistress Kim Hanson, who wore a white frock of dotted Swiss over taffeta and carried a white basket of rose petals.

The longest sausage ever made was that of the Butcher's Guild of Kongsberg, Germany. In 1601 it was carried through the streets by 103 butchers and measured some 3,000 feet in length.

The best man was Alan Marquis, brother of the groom; ushers were Alfred Moore, brother-in-law of the groom and Larry Bennett. The ringbearer was Alan Chester Watson, brother of the bride who carried both rings on a pillow of white satin.

The mother of the bride chose an aqua blue nylon over taffeta dress with matching accessories and a red rose corsage. The mother of the groom wore a beige crepe dress with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

A reception was held in the church social rooms, with the Dorcas Society assisting. The table decorations included the bride's bouquet and decorations throughout the rooms were carried out in white wedding bells and streamers of crepe paper. Aides were Mrs. Frances Lindemuth, aunt of the bride; Mrs. Nancy Hanson, Mrs. Mary Loncaric and Mrs. Louise Nelson.

For traveling to Niagara Falls and Canada, the new Mrs. Marquis wore a white knit suit with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Pre-nuptial parties were given by Mrs. James Baughman of Warren; Mrs. Alfred Moore of Warren, sister of the groom. The rehearsal dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Moore at their home.

The newly wed couple are now residing on Miller Hill road, Warren.

In today's hand, taken from the Summer National tournament recently held in Montreal, Canada, most East-West pairs bid and made four hearts on the deal, losing two club tricks and one spade. They received a score of 420 points on the deal (120-trick score plus 300 for a nonvulnerable game).

Some North-South pairs took a sacrifice at four spades. The losses usually consisted of one heart, two diamonds, one diamond ruff, and one trump for a two-trick deficit or a net loss of 300 points. This, of course, was a better score than was obtained by permitting the opponents to play four hearts.

The top score for East-West was obtained at one table where the auction proceeded as depicted in the above diagram. In order to better 420 points, the defense was required to obtain full mileage from their assets.

West opened the king of diamonds and when his partner dropped the ten, he cashed the ace as East discarded a heart. When West continued with a third round of ruff, the card he led was the nine. This was a suit preference signal indicating that his reentry was in the higher ranking of the two plain suits—hearts. Had his entry been in clubs, he would have led his lowest diamond, the four.

East ruffed the trick with the five of spades and since he feared that the declarer was apt to be short in hearts, East underled the ace in an all-out attempt to get his partner back in again for another diamond play.

West won the heart return with the nine and tho, by this time, declarer was also out of diamonds, he returned a fourth round of that suit to kill South's stuff. North followed suit with the queen, but East ruffed in with the queen of spades and declarer helplessly discarded since he was unable to overruff.

The defense now had five tricks in—two diamonds, two ruffs, and the ace of hearts—and West was assured of scoring yet another trick in trumps inasmuch as he retained the king-jack of spades. The result on the deal was a 500-point profit for East-West and a top score.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, FOR THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1967.

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Be alert. Know what is being scheduled and why. Only then can you initiate a program designed to see you through to that winning performance. Opportunity in depth is available for the taking.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—When matters reach a critical level and require some specific recommendations to relieve you from a predicament, START THINKING IN EARNEST! Latch on to that which efficiently answers your dilemma.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—It is all right to be choosy up to a point where time is not lost by continuing to be fussy. Timing is an important link and coordination another. Keep both in the limelight until you see the day-light.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Don't be trapped by premature judgments before all segments have been heard from. It is your nature to be scrupulously honest, mentally awake and physically active. Relieve apparent pressures.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Some confusing and inept influences. Give them a wide berth and pursue your objectives with diligence and clarity. Should erroneous opinions ask for consideration, put them to flight—pronto.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—A quiet and solid attempt to solve the day's byplay is best. As with Leoites, you should concentrate on alleviating tension, ignoring false premises, and join in civic and community interests and family activities.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—A close look at your agenda may reveal a flaw that corrective action can quickly eliminate. Listen to the advice of older and wiser heads. There is no substitute for experience. Add shrewd manipulation.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—Conserve your best efforts for when and where they will do most good. Observe conditions and decide when is the time to apply the pressure. Are you receptive to changes reflecting future expansion?

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—Is the climate appropriate for breaking away from routine duties? Perhaps it would be wiser to finish them first, and then reach out for the new of merit and utilize it to top advantage.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—What position do you plan to take in the scheme of things today? Your boundless potential, ably directed, can pave the way for most pleasant and fertile accomplishment.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—We are all creatures of habit. So review yours and determine the non-productive ones and those which you wish not to repeat. Otherwise you might be missing the boat.

PIECES (February 20 to March 20)—Shake yourself out of a self-imposed lethargy. This "laissez-faire" attitude is not for you assertive and positive folk. Show your thoughts, display your program, initiate new, co-gent moves and succeed.

YOU BORN TODAY: Are most enterprising, with a tendency to take on the bold and daring, never tiring of activity. Achieved success spurs you on to greater effort and to seek new horizons. The more obstacles thrown in front of you, the more determined you become. Although you are not outwardly sentimental, you are sympathetic—even though you don't always show it. You should continue to seek knowledge, take a real interest in the higher things of life and fight any habit of procrastinating.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

POWERED WHEELCHAIRS
Handicapped individuals are solving their own problems through education and ingenious devices that increase their mobility. The legs of the paraplegic are paralyzed as a result of injury to the lower spinal cord. In some, part of the trunk also is involved. His problems center about transportation and care of the bladder and rectum. The paraplegic has more serious problems. He was injured at a higher level (broken neck or polio) and all four extremities are involved.

The increased number of handicapped and disabled persons is due to battle casualties, the high incidence of automobile accidents, and suicidal attempts. Falls and sports injuries also play a role.

A few of the disabled are content to spend their lives in bed or a wheelchair but many tire of this existence and return to school to learn a trade or special skill that utilizes what they have left. Books have been written on the hundreds of aids available with which these individuals can do ordinary tasks. With these devices, they are able to live a useful and profitable life.

Wheelchairs help these persons get about. Many of these are motorized with control switches that fit individual needs. The new Permobil is an ingenious device. This battery-powered unit can go six to nine miles on one charge. It has four wheels with large pneumatic tires and drum brakes. Fingert controls make it possible for the user to climb five inch steps, and go up and down hills. Little more than finger movement runs the control panel on the arm rest.

Other powered carts also get the individual where he wants to go. Trucks, vans, and automobiles have been modified to allow the handicapped to get into and drive the vehicle. Wheelchairs can be adjusted for this purpose. It is surprising how much has been accomplished in this field mainly through the suggestions and ideas of those who need them.

TOMORROW: Cold Hands.
Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

VAGABOND NERVE
C.R. writes: Where is the vagus nerve?

REPLY
The vagus is the 10th nerve to come off the brain stem. The word comes from the same root as vagabond, and wisely so, because this extensive nerve wanders all over the body. It has 13 branches that go to the heart, lungs, esophagus, stomach, intestines, liver, and other organs.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINT—
The obese can avoid regaining lost weight by proper eating habits.

READER'S SPEAK

Dear TOP VIEW: I am not being overly protective or unreasonable in selecting shows for my children. There is a time in a child's life when he is not able to distinguish between what is acceptable moral code and what is merely sensationalism for the sake of "art" — Mrs. R. S. Pivov, Winter Park, Fla.

Dear TOP VIEW: I am 13. It is wrong for parents to rate shows we like as poor or bad. If I could rate them, they wouldn't be on the air! We kids should rate our shows and the parents theirs. — Tom Smith, Madison, Tenn.

Dear TOP VIEW: The person in Pompano Beach, Fla., lacks a sense of humor. Carol Burnett's show is the funniest on TV. She can play anything and still be good. — Jerry Morgan, Kansas City, Kan.

Dear TOP VIEW: How many times do they run the same fourth-rate movies? Don't they have anything but Elvis shows? He could make a book reader out of me again. — Grandma, '67 style, Billings, Mont.

Dear TOP VIEW: A Waco writer rapped Westerns, but it is not the majority view here. You can count the turnout at the Heart of Texas Rodeo when Festus of "Gunsmoke" performed and the turnout when "Mr. Spock" performed. No comparison. Wacoans still love Westerns! — G. Martin, Waco, Tex.

Designer Introduces Skirtless Suits

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Though it has seemed for some time that miniskirts might minimize themselves out of existence, it took the man who invented topless swimsuits to come up with bottomless dresses.
Even so, with the skirtless suits which California designer Rudi Gernreich introduced to buyers Tuesday as a part of his Siamese influenced spring collection there was a modicum of modesty.
Though wide-belted jackets stopped short of expectations, the painted manikins were primarily covered with ballooning bloomers, or Oriental diapers.
Much less so were the barefoot, barelegged, bare-nearly all beachwear babes who opened Gernreich's show with his Hard-mon knitwear collections.
To anyone farther away than second row with less than 20-20 vision the parade of minifigured manikins seemed to be wearing bright islands of cloth magically clinging at strategic places. The magic was vinyl which Gernreich used liberally as shoulder straps, side panels, portholes and picture windows on beach shifts as well as bikini suits that already showed enough.

Market Reverses Early Price Rise

(c) N.Y. Times News Service

NEW YORK — Stock market prices advanced in early trading yesterday but reversed direction in the afternoon and ended lower for the eighth consecutive session.

Closing quotations on the New York Stock Exchange showed declines leading advances by 877 to 517.

Yesterday's early gains continued the strong comeback made in the last hour-and-a-half of trading on Monday when the market managed to reduce more than two-thirds of its earlier losses. The observers said Tuesday's trading had little effect on the market.

The Dow-Jones industrial average closed 5,722 points lower at 849.57. Turnover climbed to 12,63 million shares from 10,32 million Monday. Yesterday's volume was the largest since Aug. 3, when it amounted to 13,44 million shares.

The New York Stock Exchange composite index fell 0.18 point to finish at 50.60.

The New York Times combined average of 50 industrial and railroad issues finished at 500.23 off 1.53 points, Standard & Poor's 500-stock index closed at 91.14, down 0.34.

Among the 15 most actively traded issues 11 declined, and three advanced. New lows for the year were set by 85 stocks, 26 set new highs.

Among the 30 issues in the Dow-Jones industrial average, 22 lost ground, 7 rose. The biggest loser was General Foods, down 2 1/2 to 57 3/4.

Sperry Rand was the volume leader and rose 3/8 to 52 1/2 with 149,700 shares changing hands. A block of 44,200 shares was traded at 54.

The second most heavily traded issue was Occidental Petroleum which declined 1 1/2 to 110 1/2.

Island Creek Coal was up 2 1/2 to 63 1/2. Occidental and Island Creek have proposed a merger in which Island Creek shareholders would receive 0.55 of a share of a new Occidental convertible preferred stock for each share of Island Creek.

On the American Stock Exchange the price index was up 31 cents at noon, but closed with a loss of 8 cents at $21.82. Turnover totaled 5,45 million shares, down from 4,6 million on Monday.

The over-the-counter market was moderately active and lower.

On the Big Board, one of the stronger issues was International Nickel, which advanced 2 points to 107 1/2 or Monday and the metal producer reported that its profits in the September quarter rose sharply. The company also declared an extra dividend of 20 cents a share.

Also in the mining group, Pan American Sulphur hit a 1967 high of 46 1/2 before falling back to close at 45, up 1 1/2 in heavy trading. The company reported that its earnings in the September quarter amounted to 34 cents a share while its nine months profits were $1.30.

Receive Annual Postal Award

Postal employees of the Warren post office are recipients of the Special Post Office Department Annual Award.

In a letter received by postmaster Frank A. Fago from Postal Regional Director J. J. Doherty of Philadelphia, the latter expressed his pleasure in awarding the 1967 United States Savings Bond citation to the local postal employees and officials.

Postmaster Fago acknowledged the honor by stating his own pleasure over the employees' re-affirmation of their faith in their government and its continued stability by investing in its future.

The award, prepared in three colors, contains the official Post Office seal and the Minute-man. The inscription reads, "Special Awards, 1967, U.S. Savings Bonds."

The Warren post office, according to Fago, qualified for the citation by having at least 75 per cent of its employees participate in the U.S. Savings Bond drive during the present year.

In The Armed Forces

Robert E. Raupach, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Raupach, 165 Brook St., Corry, was promoted to Army private pay grade E-2 upon completion of basic training at Ft. Dix, N.J., October 19.

Private Edward E. Swanson, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Swanson, Route 2, Kane, completed a fuel and electrical systems repair course October 20 at the Army Ordnance School, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

Peace Sit-in At Meadville

MEADVILLE—Voluntary dispersion prevented a possible skirmish Tuesday afternoon in the Allegheny College Student Union snackbar when a group of about 30 students moved in on another like number engaged in a peace sit-in.

The situation started to develop about 2 p.m. when the latter group set up a "Peace Re-cruiter" table a few feet from a Marine Recruiting team in a small room adjoining the grill.

At about 2:30 p.m., two students entered the grill with a hand fire extinguisher and turned it on the peace group, splashing some on the Marine Corps table as well.

Signs and songs marked the balance of the afternoon but when tempers threatened to get out of hand, the entire organization dispersed.
